PRESIDENT PREDICTS NEW TAX CUT

Sheriff's Wife Becomes Chef

She Prepares 20,000 Meals in Year for Jail Prisoners

By EVELYN KRISTOFF

Ask the average housewife how she manages planning and cooking meals with rising food prices, and she will be the first to say that it's not easy.

Ask a petite Marion woman who planned, cooked and served nearly 20,000 meals last year, and she will second that statement.

BUT MARGARET OBENOUR, wife of Marion County Sheriff Glenn Obenour, has found that it is possible, although on a limited allowance of 33 1-3 cents for each meal it becomes "quite a stretch."

She knows it's possible because Monday she rounded out a year of cooking meals for the prisoners lodged in the county jail. It was on Jan. 5 of 1953 when Sheriff Obenour took office and Mrs. Obenour first faced cooking for a "multitude."

It was a decided change in cooking for anywhere from a minimum of five prisoners to a maximum of 38, from the meals-for-four that she cooked for her husband and their 13-year-old son, Richard, and 3-year-old daughter, Janis.

But the change "wasn't too bad," she explains, adding that really things have run pretty smoothly during the year. She did have to get used to ordering groceries in quantities like 8 to 10 loaves of bread daily, and 8 to 10 packages of breakfast rolls daily, and meat "by the bulk" instead of one loaf of bread and one package of rolls and two or three pounds of meat.

AND INSTEAD OF buying a No. 2 can of green beans or corn for her family of four, she had to start buying cases of large restaurant-size cans for her family of 5 to 38.

The procedure of planning and cooking meals for many people is no different from cooking for a small group, she found. It's only in the quantity that the difference lies.

For example, meals at the jail are served around 8 in the morning for breakfast, around 12 noon for lunch, and around 5:30 for supper.

Breakfast usually consists of rolls and coffee. For lunch and supper, Mrs. Obenour plans that the prisoners have one main dish, a vegetable, bread, coffee, and a fruit, usually, for dessert.

For dishes, the prisoners use a rectangular shaped dish of cast aluminum divided in three deep compartments. The largest section is about the size of soup bowl and can be used not only for soup but for stew and other main dishes.

EACH PRISONER takes care of his own dish, washing it after each meal. At meal-time, the POURING A CUP OF COFFEE from the over-size coffee maker in her kitchen is Margaret Obenour, wife of Sheriff Glenn Obenour. This is only one phase of the procedures followed by Mrs. Obenour in planning, cooking and serving meals to prisoners of the county jail who vary from about 5 to 38 in number. On Monday she rounded out her first year doing this, noting that she served nearly 20,000 meals during that time.

Soviets Okay Washington Atomic Talks

Zarubin To Represent Reds in Preliminaries; Date Not Determined

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Russia were agreed today on starting preliminary atoms-for-peace talks in Washington, but the important question of timing was still up in the air.

The Soviets announced the agreement last night in Moscow and the State Department quickly confirmed it.

Russia said its ambassador in Washington, Georgi M. Zarubin, would represent it at the talks to set a time, place and subject matter for full scale negotiations. No date was mentioned.

Will Push Agreement

The State Department, within an hour, announced Secretary Dulles would "proceed at an early date to have the procedural conversations." That was another goad to the Soviets to get the talks going.

Time is short for Dulles, who is expected to leave two weeks from today for Berlin and the Foreign Ministers Conference there Jan. 25 among the United States, Russia, Britain and France.

Dulles has ben pressing for early negotiations ever since President Eisenhower proposed, in his Dec. 8 address to the United Nations, that the world unite to strip the atom of "its military casing and adapt it to the arts of peace."

Under the Eisenhower plan, atomic materials and know-how would be pooled for peaceful purposes by the United States, Russia and other nations with a contribution to make. An international agency, under United Nations auspices, would control the pool. The hope is that such international effort might ultimately lead to control of atomic weapons also.

Had Planned Earlier

Dulles has said he planned to discuss the idea with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov at the Berlin conference, originally proposed for Jan. 4. But when the meeting was postponed to Jan. 25, he instructed Charles E. Bohlen, U.S. Ambassador at Moscow, to take it up with Molotov.

Last night's Soviet communique, reporting talks yesterday and last Thursday betwen Bohlen and Molotov, said Bohlen sought preliminary atom conversations in Washington before Jan. 25 or at Berlin during the foreign ministers' get-together.

At yesterday's meeting, the communique said, Molotov told Bohlen Russia "considers it desirable" to get going and agreed to start in Washington.

There was no mention in the communique of the Soviet objection that Eisenhower's plan does not go far enough. The objection, voiced Dec. 21 when Russia first agreed to negotiate the plan, was that it provided for peacetime atomic development but offered no restraints against atom bombs. Russia said the bomb should be outlawed, much as poison gas was, under international pledges not to use it.

DECLINES COMMENT ON ARRESTS. Walter P. Reuther (center), CIO president, said in Atlantic City, N. J., that any comment on the warrants issued in Michigan for the arrest of four men in connection with an attempt on his life in 1948 must come from "the law enforcement agencies." Shown with Reuther are James B. Carey (left), CIO secretary-treasurer, and John V. Riffe, CIO executive vice president. They were attending a CIO political committee meeting.

Strong Defense With Spending Drop Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today new tax cuts "can and will be made" and he told Congress America's defense plans are geared to use of atomic weapons "if they are needed to preserve our freedom."

The President, in his state of the union message, outlined a program he said would build the military might of the United States, bolster other free nations against Communism and maintain a healthy economy at home.

Proclaiming encouraging developments in the struggle for global peace, Eisenhower said in a 7,000-word address prepared for a joint session of the House and Senate:

"Slowly but surely, the free world gathers strength. Meanwhile from behind the Iron Curtain, there are signs that tyranny is in trouble and reminders that its structure is as brittle as its surface is hard."

In his address to an election year Congress almost evenly divided politically, the President also:

—Predicted a Federal spending budget of about $66,600,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1—about 12 billion dollars less than the original Truman administration budget for the current year.

—Called for legislation to strip U. S. citizenship from Communists convicted of conspiring against the government in the future.

2,200 Removed

—Disclosed that more than 2,200 employes now have been separated from Federal jobs under the Eisenhower administration's new security program. The previous total, announced last Oct. 23, was 1,456.

—Sketched plans to combat any business recession or depression, but again declared the nation's economy is basically sound, and said his administration is determined "to keep it growing."

—Recommended a Constitutional amendment to give American youths the right to vote at 18 year of age instead of 21.

—Declared foreign military aid must be continued, but that economic aid can be cut except in Korea "and a few other critical places."

New Price Program

—Confirmed that the special farm message he will send to Congress Monday will call for a new government price support program "with enough flexibility to attract the production of needed supplies of essential commodities and to stimulate the consumption of those commodities that are flooding American markets." His support of a flexible price support program was certain to divide farmers as well as Congess members.

—Renewed his appeal for an increase in the federal debt ceiling, now 275 billion dollars. The House approved his request for a 15-billion-dollar hike last August, but the Senate Finance Committee rejected it.

—Urged amendment of the Atomic Energy Act to permit sharing with "our allies certain knowledge of the tactical use of our nuclear weapons."

Continental Defense

—Announced that during the next fiscal year the U.S. will spend nearly a billion dollars more for continental defense than during the current year.

—Called again for expansion of the social security program to cover 10 million more Americans, and for a substantial increase in benefits.

—Urged extension of unemployment compensation to 6½ million workers not now covered.

—Described the controversial Taft-Hartley Labor Law as "basically sound" but in need of improvements he will recommend in a special message Monday.

—Advocated a system of "limited government reinsurance service" to permit private and non-profit hospital and medical insurance companies now operating to offer "broader protection to more

Police Probe Shooting

Big Names Linked With Reuther Case

DETROIT (AP)—Santo (Sam) Perrone, union-busting Detroit racketeer, was expected to surrender today to face charges in the 1948 shooting case of CIO President Walter P. Reuther which threatened to involve "prominent Detroit names" in management and union circles.

Perrone and his son-in-law, Carl Renda, who both built scrap metal fortunes, were charged yesterday with two others in the attempted assassination of the union chieftain.

Silent on Identities

Some police officials predicted "prominent Detroit names" would figure in the case and might even replace the four "John Does" now listed on the warrant. Police, who "broke" the long investigated case wide open yesterday, have not given any hint to the identities of the other four.

In 1951, Perrone and four associates were charged with conspiracy to smash union organizing at the Detroit Michigan Stove Co. Perrone pleaded guilty in May, 1952, and was placed on probation.

Renda, who has no police record, figured in the Kefauver Crime Committee hearings with his father-in-law. The hearings partially ripped the mask off labor racketeering in Detroit.

Perrone's Activities

The committee heard how Perrone, nearly illiterate as a witness, had a $100,000 a year contract with Briggs Mfg. Co. to haul scrap metal away from the company. The contract was terminated by Briggs shortly after the committee hearings.

The Detroit Times said today the prosecution will attempt to prove the conspiracy to kill Reuther, then president of the CIO United Auto Workers, had two motives.

One motive involved an attempt by gamblers to control numbers and horse betting in all automobile plants, and the other involving labor disputes.

The Times said it will be contended that some of the alleged conspirators were in the plot for one motive and some for the other.

Perrone vanished from his fashionable home in suburban Grosse Pointe Shores eight hours before police began their search to arrest him.

Relatives Also Accused

Accused with him were his college-educated son-in-law, Carl Renda, 35, also a fortune hunter in scrap metal; Peter Lombardo, 51, inmate of Leavenworth Penitentiary as a carrier of counterfeit money, and Clarence Jacobs, 48, Tecumseh, Ont., television shop owner once involved in alleged alien smuggling.

The formal charges said the four men—and four "John Does"—did "feloniously, wickedly and with malice aforethought" try to kill Reuther at his home the night of April 20, 1948. A shotgun charge was fired at Reuther through his kitchen window.

Held Without Bond

The next year a similar attempt was made on the life of Victor Reuther, a co-official in the CIO president's Auto Workers Union.

Rewards totaling more than $200,000 are outstanding in both incidents.

Renda and Jacobs were arraigned on the charges yesterday—the former in Detroit and the latter in Windsor, Ont. Renda supplied $25,000 bond for his release pending examination Jan. 14. Ja-

Sen. McCarthy To Discuss Cut In Red Hunting

Subcommittee May Study Reports Ike Wants Probe Limited

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) called a meeting of his Senate investigations subcommittee today and said moves to curb or surrender part of its Red-hunting powers "may be discussed."

He has described as "a lie" published reports that he has agreed, under urging from Eisenhower administration officials, to switch emphasis in his group's investigations from communism to other fields.

Seeks Action on Requests

The main objective of today's closed door meeting, he said, is to act on his own requests for contempt of Congress citations against three balky witnesses in his recent investigations of alleged spying at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

He named the three as Corliss Lamont, wealthy New York writer; Albert Shadowitz, who McCarthy said, refused to answer questions with the explanation that Dr. Albert Einstein had advised him not to cooperate with the subcommittee; and Abraham Unger, a New York City lawyer. McCarthy said Lamont refused to answer questions, and refused to cite in justification the Constitution's guarantee against self-incrimination. He said Unger "conducted a filibuster."

Open to Discussion

But McCarthy added he was willing at today's meeting to "discuss anything the other senators have in mind," including a controversial proposal by Sen. Mundt (R-SD), that the Senate create a powerful new committee to carry the main load of investigating subversion and un-American activities.

Mundt is a member of McCarthy's subcommittee, which has been all-Republican since its three Democratic members resigned in a row with McCarthy last July.

McCarthy told reporters he "would not favor" Mundt's proposal.

Mundt had said he thought Communist investigations were too big a job for a subcommittee to handle

French Leader Endorsed for Big Four Talks

PARIS (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel and his Cabinet ministers had a new lease on their shaky offices today. They are due to hang on to them at least until after the Berlin Big Four conference of foreign ministers.

France's badly split National Assembly got together last night to give Laniel a 319-249 endorsement so Foreign Minister Georges Bidault could go to Berlin Jan. 25 as spokesman for a real government.

Laniel, who said he would resign if the vote went against him or wasn't big enough for him, had been expected to get the Assembly approval. But the size of the endorsement—five more than a majority of the chamber's 627 seats—surprised most observers. The Assembly had sent the Premier to meet President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill at Bermuda with only a 275-244 endorsement.

Laniel reviewed his domestic policies at length and his foreign policies briefly before the Assembly yesterday, then called for the decisive vote on a procedural motion to postpone debate on his speech.

Boston University Fires Professor Cited in Spy Probe

BOSTON (AP)—Boston University has fired Prof. Maurice Halperin, who was named last November in an FBI report as a link in a Communist espionage ring in high U.S. government circles.

The university announcement said yesterday that Halperin was dismissed "for the good of Boston University" after he failed several times to appear before a school review board assigned to consider his "fitness to teach."

Reached by telephone in Mexico City, where he went late in November, Halperin told the Boston Herald:

"It is very much to be regretted that Boston University has succumbed to the ways of hysteria, manipulated by unscrupulous politicians. It has done a disservice to its own good name and to the cause of academic freedom."

Officials Told Of Communist Threat in Italy

Ambassador Reports Reds Capitalizing on Economic, Political Ills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce has cautioned top officials here there is new danger in Italy of slowly rising Communist strength, it was learned today.

Mrs. Luce, who conferred yesterday with President Eisenhower, is reported to be urging continued American economic and military aid to Italy to bolster its pro-Western government.

No Immediate Threat

Neither Mrs. Luce nor the President, reliable sources said, believes there is any imminent threat that Italy's already powerful Communist party can seize power.

The ambassador is confident, it is said, that the current political crisis caused by Italian Premier Giusepe Pella's resignation can be solved quickly without playing into Communist hands.

However, she is reported concerned about the long range threat posed to Italian democracy by the new, non-violent tactics adopted by Italy's Reds.

Gain Prestige

By exploiting Italy's serious unemployment problem and pressuring non-Communist unions to cooperate in strikes, the Red leaders are reported to have gained added influence and prestige in Italy during the past year.

This opens up the grim possibility, she is said to fear, that the Communists might actually be able to take over the country in a year or two if there is an unexpected worsening of Italy's economic and political plight.

$40 Million Less

As a demonstration of American support for Italy's present government, the State Department late yesterday announced it was drafting "a substantial program" of defense orders for Italian factories as well as a plan for limited economic aid.

No specific figures were disclosed. But responsible informants said the combined program would

ROKs Withdraw Threat To Free POWs by Force

SEOUL (AP)—American and South Korean leaders meeting separately today apparently settled—at least temporarily—a rift on the tense problem of disposing of prisoners of war.

South Korean Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai dropped his threat of violence to free more than 22,000 unrepatriated prisoners of war while "new (Allied) arrangements" are tested.

Meanwhile, the Communists failed to answer a repatriation commission request for their views on what to do with the prisoners after Jan. 22, the date set by the armistice for freeing them as civilians.

The U. N. replied earlier that they should be released according to truce terms. There was no indication that the Communists would change their all-out opposition to the release before a Korean political conference meets.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, 8th Army commander, flew to Tokyo for conferences with Gen. John E. Hull, U.N. commander.

Local Charter Fund Raising Group Formed

At a meeting of representatives of various local organizations held Wednesday night in the YMCA, Jack Bray was elected chairman of a committee to raise funds for the Marion charter commission. He was a representative of the Y Men's Club.

Approximately 20 persons attended the meeting, which was called by Mrs. Francis Wanda of the Marion League of Women Voters. The charter commission requested the League to raise funds needed for its operating expenses, but national policy of the League prevented it from doing this. However, League members agreed to form a citizens committee from representatives of local organizations to conduct the drive.

Mrs. Wanda explained that $500 was needed to defray expenses of the charter commission.

Elected secretary of the fund raising group was Miss Marie Wolfe of the Altrusa Club, while Mrs. Wanda was elected treasurer. Larry Daly, of 20-30 International, was chosen to head a speakers bureau. He will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Axe of the League.

James Rankin, Bray, and Mrs. Charles D. Harmon were named to a committee whose responsibility it will be to compose a letter to be used during the drive.

The committee set Feb. 10 as its next meeting date.

New Farm Program Geared For Flexible Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today outlined a farm program built on the principle of controversial flexible price supports, but freed of price-depressing effects of present crop surpluses.

Under such a plan, government price guarantees would be high in times of shortages to encourage production, and low in times of surpluses to encourage consumption and discourage over-production.

It would replace present war-born mandatory high level supports scheduled to expire at the end of the 1954 crop year.

In his message on the State of the Union, Eisenhower said, however, present farm surpluses—totaling more than five billion dollars—should be "insulated" from the normal markets for "special use."

Such sealing off of surpluses would permit a shift to the flexible support plan in 1955 with price supports continuing at least one full crop year at the present 90 per cent of parity levels for basic commodities.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

Some farm leaders in Congress have objected to use of flexible supports next year on the ground that present surpluses would pull price guarantees for crops like cotton and wheat possibly as low as 75 percent of partity next year.

The administration suggestion th the present surpluses be insulated from market supplies would allow a gradual lowering of price supports if future production

Congress Given Preview Of Powerful U.S. Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower gave Congress today the new look at national defense—a "great and growing number" of atomic weapons, expanding air fleets, diminishing manpower.

His State of the Union message specifically mentioned a one billion dollar boost in spending for continental defense against enemy air attack.

Here are considerations which Eisenhower said went into a program given the unanimous recommendation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and his own approval after assessment by the diplomatic-military policy-making National Security Council:

1. "We take into full account our great and growing number of nuclear weapons and the most effective means of using them against an aggressor if they are needed to preserve our freedom. Our defense will be stronger if, under appropriate security safeguards, we share without allies certain knowledge of the tactical use of our nuclear weapons. I urge Congress to provide the needed authority."

The nuclear weapons to which Eisenhower referred include a variety of standard nuclear fission bombs, atomic artillery and the

Self-Governing Not for Prisons

Warden Says Inmates Want Only Protection

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—John C. Burke, warden of the Wisconsin state prison, says that most prisoners need to be guarded "to protect them from other inmates."

Burke told the Wisconsin Bankers Association that he oppossed efforts of amateur penologists who want to install self-government in penal institutions.

"The inmates don't want self-government, they want protection from other inmates," Burke said. "If there weren't discipline and iron bars, there wouldn't be any inmates for the teachers and psychiatrists to work with."

He said separate institutions should be constructed to house sex deviates and that they should be located near large cities so trained psychiatrists would be available.

"Our experience has shown that many arrested for minor sex offenses are potentially more dangerous than those arrested for more serious sex crimes," Burke said.

MANCHESTER, Conn. (UP) — John B. Dunphy, 31, who left his calling card near the scene of a filling station robbery, was sentenced to one year in jail. Police tracked him down after they found his heel print on a scrap of cardboard outside the place.

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — A woman who gave her home address as police headquarters told amazed election officials there really wasn't anything unusual about it. "I have an apartment there," she explained, "I'm the police matron."

Better Than Year Ago

Relations With Soviets Thaw Slightly

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower could justly claim before Congress today that relations with Russia appear slightly better than when he took office a year ago, but only very slightly.

Russia has agreed to talk about Germany and the atom. This time a year ago the United States and the Soviets couldn't agree to talk on anything.

It's possible but questionable that some good will come of the talks.

Under stiff prodding the Russians recently agreed to a Foreign Ministers' meeting on Germany. Last night they said they would start making arrangements here for talks on Eisenhower's atom proposal.

The President went before the United Nations Dec. 8 with the suggestion the big powers discuss a plan for pooling some of their atomic materials and knowledge for peaceful use.

He didn't offer a plan but suggested that talking might develop one.

If the Russians, once the discussions start, follow the line they've mentioned recently, the two countries will probably wind up just as deadlocked as they've been for seven years.

In 1946 the United States and Russia offered opposite ways of getting rid of the atom bomb.

The United States argued that before the two countries could agree on destroying atom bombs, each must promise to admit inspection teams to prevent cheating. The Russians have balked ever since at the inspection idea.

Eisenhower's suggestion was to seek a new road: if the big powers could just agree on a plan to make peaceful use of the atom, maybe then they could go and some day agree on how to get rid of the bomb.

World reaction to his proposal was so good the Russians could hardly refuse, although they delayed their acceptance, perhaps to find a way to put Eisenhower on the defensive, where he had pushed them.

When they did reply they complained he hadn't said anything about outlawing atomic weapons. They asked consideration for their old bomb-banning plan, which meant agreement to ban first without agreement to inspect.

Then last week Premier Malenkov suggested agreement not to use the bomb, as a preliminary to agreement on getting rid of the bomb.

But mere agreement not to use the bomb in war wouldn't prevent either country from continuing to make bombs as fast as it could, just in case.

And both probably would. Neither, on a simple agreement without inspection, could ever be sure the other wouldn't suddenly break its word with a bomb attack.

At the moment the main military advantage this country can be said to have over Russia, and it seems like only a temporary advantage, is that it has more bombs. It's been making them longer.

Eisenhower is so reliant upon them that he is cutting down the size of the armed forces. This also reduces expenses

Unless it were sure, through inspection, that Russia couldn't make a sneak bomb attack, this country couldn't very well stop making atomic weapons. That would mean a complete change in defense plans.

And, without the defense of the bomb, this country and its Western allies would be at an immediate and huge disadvantage. They can't match in size the armed forces of Russia, the satellites, and Red China, because the latter have more men.

Ex-Marine Reports His Car Stolen, Finds Culprit

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Fred DeHass, former Marine, reported his car stolen last night while he was bowling.

Later, the 6-foot 4-inch, 230-pound DeHass walked out of the bowling place and saw his car moving in a slow line of traffic.

He dashed into the street, grabbed the driver's collar and ordered him to pull to the curb. The driver meekly complied.

Police held the man, James Price, 30, for investigation.

CLEVELAND CRASH KILLS 2

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — Frank Twardzik, 60, and his son, Mathew, 38, both of Cleveland, were killed at nearby Streetsboro last night when their car skidded and collided with a truck on Ohio 14. They were believed enroute to Pittsburgh to attend a funeral.

Denver School's Brand New Skeleton Is Stolen

DENVER (AP)—R. A. Wright, assistant principal at East Denver High School, complained to police yesterday that someone rattled off with the school biology department's brand new skeleton.

Make no bones about it, he informed officers, the school wants its skeleton back. The frightening figure set East High back $225 only a few weeks ago.

Note of Sympathy

Two other Americans share a bond of experience with Dwight D. Eisenhower's at the outset of his second year in the presidency.

They are Herbert C. Hoover and Harry S. Truman. Both have a well-developed sense of history in the making, which should give them special insight into presidential problems.

Both know what President Eisenhower now is learning—that the presidency of the United States of America is perhaps the most frustrating honor that can be bestowed on a man.

Mr. Truman made no secret of his conviction it had become a hardship. Mr. Hoover as in the White House when its functions were still relatively simple. But he was the victim of such ruthless abuse that he must look back on the experience as a break in a record of humanitarianism which has made him one of the world's most honored and best loved men.

Yet, men continue to seek the presidency.

They seek the criticism stirred by efforts to provide leadership and tolerate the second guessing which is the inevitable consequence of their attempts to set things in motion.

They seek the relentless publicity and speculation about their motives which goes with public service in a free society. They seek the privilege of opening their minds and hearts to the torments and strains of domestic and international tensions.

Everything President Eisenhower says and does from now on will be greeted with mixed feelings—mixed in approximately equal parts of approval and disapproval. His political "honeymoon" is over. The politicians, who thrive on dissension and controversy, will grow bolder as the 1952 people's mandate to a non-politician presidential candidate receedes into the distance and the congressional elections of 1954 come closer.

If there were nothing to the presidency but grief, the United States could abandon hope. There also is a vast satisfaction in the prestige of the office and the performance of its duties.

Someone must stand up as a rallying point for the throngs who need leadership. Someone must be big enough to take the grief and abuse of the presidency, secure in the personal knowledge that most of his fellow citizens respect him for his willingness to serve.

At the beginning of a new session of Congress, a new year in government and what may be a new era in national experience, all of us might spare a moment to be grateful for the personal sacrifices which Americans like President Eisenhower and his cabinet chiefs and assistants are willing to make for our republic.

There will be times—there always have been times before—when the men in Washington will wonder if anyone thinks they are doing anything right.

World's Best Dressed Women

The fashion editor who gave all 10 votes to Jane Doe in this year's New York Dress Institute poll on the world's best-dressed women gives us the courage to add a few remarks about Jane.

She has a secret, of course, because she spends less money on her whole wardrobe than the clothes-horses who win the poll each year spend on their handkerchiefs.

The secret is Jane herself. She knows what looks good on her and looks for it wherever she has a chance to find it — in bargain basements, sales and even on those plain gaspipe racks.

She owns a sewing machine and knows how to make it sit up and do tricks. She has a good figure and it stays that way because she does her own housework and helps her old man take care of the yard in the summertime.

She wants to look nice — that's Jane's main ambition. She has no chance to compete in the big-spending league with the Duchess of Windsor and the spouses of multi-millionaires. But if they had to look nice on Jane's budget, they'd win first prizes for frumpery.

All of which helps to account for good old Jane's cheerful expression as she starts to put together her spring outfit out of what she can't afford to throw away and what she hopes she will be able to afford to buy before Easter.

An Awful Lot of Coffee

Another rise in coffee prices sticks out like a price cut would have stuck out a year ago. It seems like a good idea to pass along trade talk on what's going on in Brazil, where most of the coffee comes from.

The Brazilians, according to the Wall Street Journal and other publications which keep track of commodity markets, are taking advantage of American coffee drinkers.

As the line in the song goes, "There's an awful lot of coffee in Brazil." But there isn't as much as there used to be. The Brazilians have figured out that it's better to sell their prize commodity in a seller's market.

Though they blame the coffee shortage on frost and insect damage, they have created it artificially to jack up the price. Don't blame your grocer. Don't blame the fellow who runs the restaurant. Blame the discovery that in a supply-and-demand pricing system the best way to raise the price is to shorten the supply and thereby to increase the demand.

The Brazilians can't take any credit for discovering that.

Frankness Needed

By David Lawrence

Eisenhower's Duty To Expose Cancerous 'Messes'

It isn't the task of Washington correspondents to elect or defeat presidents or help members of Congress win re-election. It is their duty to report the story of regard to where the chips may fall.

It's their obligation to forget personal likes or dislikes or their own party affiliations and tell the public what's going on, even though, for example, it may not be pleasant reading for the friends or supporters of the man in the White House.

For the "state of the Union," governmentally speaking, isn't good, and there isn't much logic in glossing over the tragic plight of Dwight Eisenhower today. He needs every bit of sympathy he can get, and he deserves the benefit of a frank disclosure of the truth.

The facts show that "The Washington mess" is worse than the public ever knew and that the present administration has made very little progress in cleaning it up. It may take years to get that job done.

THIS ISN'T the time for the administration to be talking of "accomplishments" of its own — to be issuing defensive essays on its aims and purposes — because the fact is that the new administration hasn't been able to get a good grip on the government during the nearly twelve months that have elapsed since it took office.

It hasn't cleaned out the inefficient or rooted out the bad policies. The boom or so - called "prosperity" of recent years was made by the business of war orders, and the two Democratic administrations were able to provide prosperous conditions primarily threats of war.

Readjustment from a war prosperity is a painful necessity—not a political weakness.

A favorite quip heard in Washington is: "When will the Republican administration be inaugurated?" Up to now, the government has been ruled in large part by Truman holdovers in many departments or by persons imbued with the philosophy of the preceding administrations, though they call themselves Republicans.

While some of the recent appointees think they are making new policies, several of them find themselves struggling to keep the old, deep - seated policies from spilling over into worse "messes."

THUS THE TRUTH about the Korean "mess" has never been told. The facts as to the unpreparedness of the military services, and particularly of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for the sudden decision to intervene in Korea have never been revealed, though the blunder is almost as catastrophic as what happened at Pearl Harbor.

There is still a tendency, moreover, to cover up and be secretive about the circumstances surrounding the forced entry of the United States into World War II.

The same kind of cover - up has occurred with reference to the loss to the free world of China.

Incidentally, some of the individuals who participated in that fiasco have been defended, and in certain cases promoted, by the Eisenhower administration to other posts, notwithstanding their faulty judgment.

Throughout the government departments the effort to uproot New Deal and Fair Deal policies that spell waste and "creeping socialism" has met with frustration.

Many of the Eisenhower appointees have chosen to be silent on the obstacles they find, when the need of the hour is for intensive exposure.

Naturally the old crowd of Trumanites want to squelch all investigating committees in Congress. But what is amazing is that some of the Eisenhower men seem to be willing to let bygones be bygones.

EACH ADMINISTRATION should be held accountable for its acts to the American people. The present administration has never fully recognized its obligation to tell the voters what has hapened behind the scenes — the truth all the way from tax frauds to coddling of Communists.

Mr. Eisenhower is a tragic prisoner of circumstances beyond his control. He wants to be nice to everybody — including his predecessors. But the truth has a way of forcing itself into the open, and Mr. Eisenhower's chances to extricate the country from the many "messes" his administration inherited lies in telling the whole revolting story, piece by piece.

The waste of American money abroad has been a scandal. The waste of money in the military services has been another scandal.

The failure to provide ammunition to American boys in Korea is still another scandal.

The refusal — due to foreign dictation — to back up American troops on the firing line by giving them maximum power to fight the enemy is a story that has never been told in its entirety, though the public does know Gen. MacArthur was summarily fired for daring to suggest that American boys be defended to the utmost in Korea.

THE BUDGET can't be balanced because the inherited commitments are beyond belief. The President is battling with critics who say he hasn't kept his campaign promises about balancing the budget, but Mr. Eisenhower has never revealed the true nature of the costly commitments made by the preceding administrations which make a balanced budget almost impossible for a long time to come.

Secrecy and diversion of attention to new legislative proposals will not eradicate the basic cancer —a personnel dedicated to spending, a personnel dedicated to policies that mean surrender of American interests all over the world, and a personnel that wants to give money to allies while getting little cooperation in return.

Foreign policy and domestic policy are interwoven, and any cold-blooded analysis of the facts—without wishful thinking — will reveal that the Eisenhower administration is up against a set of barriers that only an informed public opinion can help the President to break down.

This is not a happy picture, but little good can come out of a glossing over of the facts.

Red Gold No Danger to World Market

By Raymond Moley

I wish to disclaim any intention to associate myself with the anti-anti-communists in noting here that some current fears of Russia seem a bit silly to me.

Foremost among the hysterical proposals included in that classification is the suggestion that the United States refuse to take any Russian gold and gold "suspected of being Russian."

There is no mystery about the gold that has recently been coming out of the Soviet. It is shipped almost entirely to get consumer goods, presumably to improve the standard of living which Malenkov deplored in his speech last summer.

We should, so far as we can, see that no strategic articles or materials go behind the Iron Curtain, regardless of how the price for them is paid. But to try to determine which gold comes from Russia and which comes from somewhere else is to waste precious energy.

SUCH AN EFFORT would have no effect upon the Soviet regime and it would not help us economically. In fact, it would cost us some trade that we need.

The result that could be expected would be to provide an excuse for some European countries to cut trade with us still more and to increase their trade with the Soviet.

It would also provide ammunition for the Communist propaganda machine. They would be sure to say that even when they try to improve world relations, we refuse to cooperate.

The other evening I heard a man say that the gold that the Soviet has been using in trade recently is simply the gold that they seized in Spain during the Civil War there several years ago. That for him seemed to clinch the argument—how, I am unable to fathom.

I certainly do not know whether this is Spanish gold or not, and I certainly believe that my friend does not know either. I also believe that it makes no difference now. It seems to me that such arguments lack rationality.

I DO KNOW that in those days nearly 21 years ago, when it seemed safe to feel out the intentions of Soviet Russia and when they had agents over here trying to buy things that they needed, the question of their using gold came up.

At that time, from March to September 1933, I happened to be charged by President Roosevelt with such relations as the State Department had with the then unrecognized Soviet Russia. Over and over, representatives of Amtorg came to talk about what the Russians were anxious to buy from us.

These talks were almost always interesting but fruitless. They wanted exactly the things that the United States desperately wanted to sell. But when it came to the question of what they were to use for money, the conversations lagged.

Time after time, I asked whether they had any gold. We were not so flush with gold then. Their answer was that they had lots of gold in the hills but little in the treasury.

When I asked why they didn't dig some out, these traders would look helpless and say that such a matter belonged to some of the Commissars and that they had no influence over it.

THEY WERE sure, however, that there was plenty of unmined gold in Russia and that its whereabouts was known.

It is not unreasonable to suppose that some digging has been going on during these years since and that the product is what is getting into world trade now.

There are 60 billion dollars in gold in the world's monetary supply, of which we have 22 billions and Russia an estimated 5.5 billions. So there is plenty of gold in Europe to shuffle about.

It would not be difficult for countries over there to segregate the Russian gold and to use their own in transactions with us. This would very simply defeat any effort on our part to keep Soviet gold from our shores.

There are other ways to fight the cold war than an effort of that kind.

Degrees of Crime

By TRUMAN TWILL

The law lost no time in running down three miscreants who made off with $160,000 worth of the federal government's money. Taxpayers have no squawk coming.

But some of us can be pardoned for philosophizing about what distinguished this from some more ordinary misappropriations of public money. These three made their great mistake by lifting their wad directly from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

That made their misdeed a straight case of the theft. If they'd waited until they had a crack at government money already in circulation with plenty of wrinkles in it and dog - eared corners, they'd have had a better chance.

If they had got caught with something then that didn't belong to them they could have hired a passel of lawyers and put up a battle. They could have claimed they were entitled to the money according to ruling in the case of Salmagundi et al vs. the state of Bliss and carried the case to the Supreme Court.

They could have reached a settlement out of court, cleaning the slate by paying back a percentage of what they had taken which did not belong to them.

They could have entered a plea of guilty to a lesser crime and saved the law enforcers the trouble of trying to prove something that was going to take a lot of proving.

They could have put themselves on the public payroll and drawn out the loot in legal installments.

They could have cut a melon.

They could have tied up the government in knots with hocus-pocus about being unable to settle accounts in full and settling, instead, for a few cents on the dollar, like gamblers and racketeers.

They could have gone abroad and defied the suckers back home to do anything about it.

They could have hired some of those fixers in Washington who get paid fat fees for knowing their way in and out of the rabbit warrens and woodchuck holes of government.

They could have set up a dummy corporation to throw the snoopers off the track.

But instead they took a sackful of new twenties off the assembly line under circumstances which didn't even give them an excuse to cry out that they'd been framed.

They haven't a leg to stand on. They can't even stand on their constitutional rights.

Their only explanation is that they needed the money. That's so naive and ingenuous it doesn't even call for a congressional investigation, a picket line around the White House or a fund to protect them from persecution.

It's so wide - eyed and innocent it's refreshing. It also is refreshing to learn they were turned in by a near relative who suffered one night from a bad conscience and called the police bright and early the next morning.

When crime gets this simple, it's as if it weren't crime at all but a mistake in judgment.

Target Practice

By BILL VAUGHAN

It's a wonder today's children aren't discouraged about this time of year when it's pretty obvious from the ads and window displays that Santa's pack is already full of cigarettes and whisky.

Russian Teddy bears are not soft enough, a Moscow newspaper complains, which might have been understandable under Stalin, but hardly with Cuddles Malenkov as a model.

Fair Trade Optimism

Supporters of the fair-trade movement are looking ahead with a spirit of optimism. To them, the future of fair trade looks brighter from a legal point of view than it has at any time since former President Truman signed the McGuire Act in 1952. There seems to be adequate reason for their elation.

The year 1953 saw many significant fair trade victories. Particularly was this true in the closing months when the U.S. Supreme Court twice refused to review an earlier decision of the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court which had upheld the constitutionality of the Louisiana and McGuire Fair Trade Acts in the Lilly vs. Schwegmann case, in which the pharmaceutical manufacturers had succeeded in obtaining an injunction restraining Schwegmann Brothers supermarkets from selling the company's products at lower than fair-trade prices.

The annual open forum of the American Fair Trade Council in November found fair-trading manufacturers in a jubilant mood, and most of the speeches were keyed around an enforcement theme. The approximately 450 manufacturers in attendance were urged to practice fair trade sincerely and in good faith. They heard a New York supreme court justice outline their role in enforcement and charge them with the responsibility of seeing that such enforcement is impartial and efficient.

A major challenge to present distributive methods of many fair-trading manufacturers has still remained unresolved after months of litigation. The government questions the legality of fair-trade contracts employed by manufacturers engaged in more than one level of distribution.

Fair-traders lost some judicial skirmishes in lower state courts. However, in view of the recent stabilizing decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court, favorable clarifying action is anticipated in the appellate courts.

The box score now shows 45 states with fair-trade laws. The states of Missouri, Texas and Vermont and the District of Columbia make up the nonfair-trade areas.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Trotting Czar Via Dragnet

Harness racing, spreading rapidly all over the country, is watching New York where former Police Commissioner George Monaghan has just taken over as czar of the trotting tracks. Mr. Monaghan stepped abruptly from a squad car to a trotting sulky, as it were, New Year's Day. His appointment was somewhat sudden and we like to imagine the story as he might relate it, using the "Dragnet" routine:

The phone rang. I answered. The voice said, "This is Dewey." I said, "What Dewey?" The voice answered, "It ain't the hero of Manila Bay." I put two and two together. Left out Manila. I knew at once it was the Governor.

"Are you busy, George?"

"I could use a rest. Been working like a horse."

"That's what I wanted to talk to you about . . .Horses!"

"I'm Monaghan the policeman; you must want Monaghan the veterinarian."

—:—

Then I got the facts. Horse trouble. Trotters. I trotted over to see him. Told him I'd work for him but wasn't out of harness yet. He said, "Keep the harness on. It establishes the mood." Then I got the details:

"There are hoodlums in trotting track operations."

"Yeah, So I heard. It's getting so the only way to train a horse is to send him to the crime movies."

"I want the horses to go straight."

"The only place that's possible is on the straightaway at Belmont."

"Horses don't trot at Belmont."

"The ones I bet on do."

"We've got to keep out the crooks at trotting tracks. Things have reached a point where a horse doesn't know which way to turn."

"That's bad on the curves, guvnor."

—:—

Next day I contacted a top mobster. He wouldn't talk. Offered to buy a drink. I took a coke. He had a horse's neck. Or maybe it was a goiter. I let him have it on the chin:

"What's your interest in trotting tracks"

"I'm a frustrated horse liniment salesman."

"Don't rub it in. What got you into trotting"

"Longfellow. I'm a sucker for his Village Blacksmith."

"Smart guy, eh?" I hear you have two hundred thousand dollars worth of stock in trotting tracks."

"That ain't hay!"

"You're telling me! Lock him up!"

Then I realized there was nobody present to lock him up. All my assistants were out getting the morning line at the flat tracks. I got sulky. The mobster got sulky, too. That gave us two sulkies. All we needed now was two trotters. All the trotters were in reform school. we had to settle for pacers.

CAB Hearing Under Way

Ohio, West Virginia Ask Air Service Be Increased

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—West Virginia and Ohio cities are stumping for increased air service.

Yesterday the Civil Aeronautics Board opened a meeting, expected to last 10 days, to hear their pleas.

Besieging the CAB from all sides are representatives of a host of cities which believe they are stepchildren of the aviation age.

One of the first to get its licks in yesterday was the City of Lima.

Presenting Lima's arguments were Charles O. Guy, executive manager of the Lima Assn. of Commerce; Walter A. Plezia, manager of Lima's privately-built airport; Frank M. Hatman, research director of the commerce association, and City Solicitor Roger D. Andrews.

Guy, saying he represents a metropolitan area of 74,000 persons, testified Lima has no scheduled airline service. It has five mainline railroads which do not offer satisfactory passenger transportation, he said. Trans World Airlines operated out of Lima for three years, he continued, but pulled out three years ago because of lack of community interest. Chief reason, he said, was the failure of the city to pass an airport bond issue.

Lake Central Airlines, Inc., is to start east-west local service in Lima March 1, Guy said.

He said he believes Lima should be included in an Eastern Airlines, Inc., proposal to put Columbus and Toledo on its north-south trunkline, linking Detroit, Charleston and cities farther south.

Columbus, Charleston, and Toledo also have teamed up behind the Eastern Airlines proosal.

Raymond E. Hudson, transportation manager for the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, said the anticipated growth of Columbus warrants more air service than the existing one round trip daily between Columbus and Toledo. Francis A. Bolton, superintendent of Port Columbus, said 159,000 persons boarded planes at Columbus last year.

Piedmont Aviation, Inc., wants to add Columbus and Parkersburg-Marietta to its network serving West Virginia and several states in the mid-South. Lake Central wants to route a line linking Charleston, Columbus, Lima and Detroit.

There was some disagreement among interested parties yesterday. But one thing most witnesses agreed on: They want more airline service.

Herbert K. Ames, public relations director of the Aero Mfg. Corp. at Bryan, spoke for Bryan and Defiance.

He said the day is approaching when both the air lines and the CAB must face the problem of providing air service for smaller communities.

Edward F. Wagner, public relations director of the Farm Bureau insurance companies, said his organization could use more air service north and south of Columbus.

New-Type Fabrics Give Cleaning Shops Trouble

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The many new fabrics may be a boom to consumers but they're a headache to the cleaner.

Meyer Mednick, president of the Cleaners and Dyers Association, said the consumer believes "everything she or he reads in advertising" about the new synthetic fibers and fabrics, and the dry cleaner gets blamed if there ar- poor results due to "bad labeling and misleading advertising claims."

Often the label on a garment is not clear as to just what the synthetic fiber is being blended with, Mednick explained. Consequently, the cleaner is not sure how to approach the problem.

Mednick warned consumers to read labels carefully before purchasing a garment to make certain they are getting what they expect. Then let the cleaner decide whether the fabric can be properly cleaned and just how it should be processed.

Strike Vote Set By Teamsters On Truck Tax

CLEVELAND (AP) — AFL teamsters who drive their own trucks plan to take strike votes at four state meetings Sunday in protest against payment of Ohio's new axle-mile tax.

James R. Hoffa, international vice president of the Teamsters Union, said a definite date for a strike probably would be set at the sessions here and in Youngstown, Toledo and Cincinnati.

The union has threatened for sometime to strike in Ohio and 12 other states and Jan. 15 had been mentioned as a date. Hoffa said yesterday, however, the date had not been set yet.

Union leaders already have given approval to the strike and Hoffa expressed strong belief that at all four sessions the vote would be in favor of a walkout.

The complicated dispute is between the owner-operators and the trucking firms who lease their vehicles. Both claim the other should pay the levy.

First payments to the state under the tax are due Jan. 20. The rate is from ½ to 2½ cents a mile on trucks with three or more axles.

The National Labor Relations Board yesterday conducted a hearing on a petition by 195 owner-operators in Akron who lease their equiment to Motor Cargo, Inc., of the same city.

The operators are asking for an election to determine which union should represent them or for certification as an independent union.

Philip Fusco, NLRB examiner, gave all interested parties until Jan. 28 to file briefs before the record is sent to Washington for a decision.

Bucyrus Fixes Record High Budget in 1954

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—A record high appropriation of $932,236 has been passed by City Council here for municipal government operations during 1954.

The total is $92,368 more than was provided in the 1953 appropriation. However, the 1953 total of $839,967 was revised upwards several times. The additional general appropriations alone amounted to $38,000, City Auditor E. C. Oppenlander pointed out.

Total general fund appropriations this year amount to $552,125, an increase of $73,715 over the initial 1953 appropriation. Estimated general fund revenue is $554,464. An allocation of $245,500 has been made for City Hospital operation, and the municipal waterworks fund has been raised to $194,626 from last year's $177,786.

Operation of the police department will cost $61,950, an increase of $4,050, while the fire department's new appropriation is $45,550 compared with $39,800 appropriated in 1953.

A total of $150,560 will be spent for street repair and lighting, garbage removal, swimming pool operation and other recreation facilities. Last year, $129,710 was appropriated for these purposes.

Pay raises have been approved by Council for Police Chief Arthur L. Stuckert and Fire Chief Ralph Mead. Chief Stuckert's new salary will be $390 a month, a $20 increase to compensate him for loss of fees in state cases. A $35 a month raise was voted Chief Mead. His new salary will be $355 per month.

Mrs. Anita Deisler was re-hired as Council clerk and Councilman Victor Vollrath, an attorney, re-elected vice president of Council. The only new member of Council, which again is composed of five Republicans and three Democrats, is Fred Christman, a banker and Democrat. He succeeds Dr. James E. Frey, Democrat, who did not seek re-election.

NEW CORD SOLVES STRETCH

NEW YORK (UP)—The problem of gaps in draperies may be solved with a new type of draw cord which the maker says will not stretch. The manufacturer says the gap between drapery panels usually develops because the ordinary cording stretches after a short time. The new cord is made of cotton braided over a core of Fiberglas yarns.

ST. PAUL'S Episcopal Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Sue Charl Sparks and Pvt. Lloyd Leland Johnston Jr. Saturday afternoon.

The couple repeated their vows in a candlelight service read at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. Frederick W. Leech, rector. Decorations in the church were greenery and mountain laurel and the altar vases held white carnations and pompons. White ribbon bows marked the family pews. Miss Grace Cooper, organist, played a program of nuptial music and vocalist was Eddie Steerman, boy soprano. Acolytes were Robert Bagley and Steven Allen.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Sparks of 440 E. Church St. and niece of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hunt of 789 Bexley Ave. Pvt. Johnston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Johnston of 202 Chicago Ave.

Mr. Hunt escorted his niece to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her gown of white pure silk was fashioned with a sheer yoke outlined with a deep band of Chantilly lace which also formed the tiny sleeves. A Juliet cap of matching lace held her veil of bridal illusion and she wore mitts matching her gown. She carried her white wedding orchid on a white Bible and her jewelry was a double strand pearl choker.

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Carol Sparks, who wore a gown of pink silk styled similar to the bride's, with elbow length sleeves. Her headdress was a band of pink ostrich plumes and her flowers were a nosegay of sweetheart roses and pink shattered carnations.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Jean Johnston, sister of the bridegroom, who was gowned in pink nylon net over matching taffeta. Her headdress matched her gown and she wore white gloves. Her flowers were a nosegay of sweetheart roses and shattered pink carnations. A replica of her gown was worn by the bride's cousin, Miss Cynthia Jane Hunt who lit the candles. Her pink headband was caught on either side with a tiny rose and her nosegay matched those of the bride's attendants, only smaller.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was Richard Riddle and seating the guests were Joseph Buettin, Richard Lewis of Marion, Thomas Green of Akron and Thomas Guthery of LaRue.

The wedding reception was at Hotel Harding where the guests were received in the ballroom. The bride's mother wore a costume suit of beige silk moire and matching accessories and Mrs. Johnston's two-piece costume was lace over matching satin in a tan beige shade. Her small pillbox hat and accessories were brown. Both wore cymbidium orchids.

The table was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, chrysanthemums, snapdragons and vinca and the table holding the tiered wedding cake was covered with a cloth of white silk ruffled in pink. Hostesses were Mrs. John F. Smith, Mrs. John K. Bartram, Mrs. John Waddell, Mrs. William K. Hamor, Miss Mary Hamor, Miss Shirley Arbogast and Mrs. Thomas Ballinger of Marion, and Mrs. Lewis Davison of Cincinnati, a college roommate of the bride.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip which took them to Dothan, Ala., the bride was wearing a going-away costume of wool jersey in navy blue. Her hat was in navy and white and pinned to her box jacket was an orchid corsage.

The couple will live at 109 S. Denton St. in Dothan.

The bride was graduated from Harding High School and attended the University of Michigan. She has been employed by the General Telephone Company of Ohio here. Pvt. Johnston, a graduate of Harding High School, attended Miami University where he affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. He is stationed at Camp Rucker, Ala.

Guests from out-of-town included Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Mahan and family of Pontiac, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grimes, Mrs. Maude Pletcher of Greenville, Mrs. H. A. Moist of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Davison of Cincinnati, Mrs. Doris Syman, Thomas Green, Sanford Jameson, Morton Beech of Akron, James Thompson of Lima, William Miller of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston were hosts at a buffet supper for the wedding party Friday evening at their home. Miss Sparks gave her attendants bracelets and Pvt. Johnston's gift to the best man was an alligator belt and gave the ushers cigaret cases.

13 More Liquor Permits Issued

Freeze Eased by New Law, Court Decisions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state liquor department today issued 13 new liquor permits, some because of a recent act of the Legislature and others because of a recent court decision in Hamilton County.

This is the second batch of new permits issued under the new law and the court decision. Seventeen permits were issued last month. Included in the new batch are one permit for the sale of whisky by the glass; nine private club permits and three night club permits.

The legislative act provides the department's freeze on new permits, invoked in 1949, shall have no effect on private groups chartered by Congress or on subsidiary units of national fraternal organizations in cases where the parent organizations have been in existence at least eight years.

The Hamilton County decision holds the department must issue liquor permits to the level which existed at the time the freeze was invoked—that each political subdivision is entitled to replacements of permits which either were canceled, revoked or not renewed.

Proper Usage of Salt For Livestock Explained

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP) — Thomas Dowe, assistant professor of animal husbandry at the University of Nebraska says a cow deprived of salt is likely not to make as good utilization of feed and therefore doesn't gain weight normally.

Judicious use of salt by a farmer, Dowe said, can result in better utilization of his pasture. By spreading out the salt blocks, he can tempt cattle to graze in different locations and avoid overgrazing a particular section.

Mixing of salt with a protein supplement, limits the intake of the protein by cattle. Thus, a farmer can put three of four days' supply in distant fields, saving him daily trips.

Hoover Will Head Crawford Board Of Commissioners

BUCYRUS—Re-election of Vance Hoover, Jefferson Township Democrat, as chairman of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners was announced here today. Other board members are Democrat Ralph Schreck and Republican Earl Leonard, both of Bucyrus.

Commissioners also announced the re-appointments of Mrs. Lucile Kunkle as clerk, Dr. D. D. Bibler of Bucyrus, as county jail physician, and H. E. Miller, Crestline, dog warden. Dr. W. G. Carlisle, Bucyrus, replaces Dr. Jack Arnold, Bucyrus, as county home physician.

A $300 a year salary increase was voted Dog Warden Miller. His new salary is $3,300.

Tin Magnate Consents To Daughter's Wedding

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—Millionaire tin magnate Antenor Patino yielded today to love's young dream and gave up his legal attempt to block the marriage of his beautiful 18-year-old daughter Maria Isabela to a handsome young Englishman.

The way was clear for Maria Isabela and Jimmy Goldsmith, 20-year-old son of an English hotel man, the runaway lovers whose plight had attracted worldwide attention, to get married at any one of 200 or more registry offices in Scotland. They already have a license.

There were reports papa had met the young couple in secret last night and given them his blessing.

GREENWICH, Conn. (UP) — Election officials had some untangling to do after Rocco Straza won as a write-in candidate. Two persons with that name live in the same voting district on the same street.

WRONG DATE

DAVENPORT, Wash. (UP) — Turning back the calendar a couple of years may be the wish of many persons, but it didn't work when John Bates tried it. Bates shot his deer in a special hunt and marked it with a tag as required by law. But a game protector discovered the tag was for 1951 instead of 1953. Bates was fined $75 and costs.

Hamblin To Be Council Chief At Green Camp

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP — Herbert D. Kempton, former mayor, was sworn in for a new term at Council meeting Monday. He succeeds Robert D. Lashey. The oath was administered by A. E. Haberman, notary public.

Mayor Kempton then swore in Mrs. Edith Schwaderer, clerk, and H. Reginald Smith, Merle Wolfinger, Joe Ward, Max Hamblin, Lowell Ault and William O'Hara, councilmen. The treasurer, Mrs. Ida Lanius, was unable to be present. Bonds of the mayor, clerk and treasurer were approved.

Council then selected Max Hamblin as president of the body. William Gracely, Marion attorney, was retained as village solicitor.

Council will continue to meet the first Monday in the month at 7 p.m.

A resolution designating the Peoples Bank of Green Camp as depository was approved. A contract with the bank was approved.

Named on the street and alley committee were Ault, Ward and Wolfinger; on general and finance committee, Hamblin, Smith and O'Hara. A resolution accepting the amounts and rates as determined by the budget commission was approved. Another resolution authorized selling the old fire apparatus to the township trustees. The trustees intend to remount the equipment on a new chassis, which is on hand.

The mayor announced that the office of marshal has not yet been filled.

The wedge-tailed eagle, also known as the eagle-hawk, is the world's largest eagle, says the National Geographic Society. Its nest may be eight feet in diameter and nearly as deep.

JOINS BUCYRUS POLICE

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus' police force today had a new patrolman. He is James Thompson, a World War II veteran and a former painter and paper hanger. He succeeds George Ghist, who resigned last fall to join the state highway patrol. He is the son of City Councilman, L. B. Thompson.

Ancient chairs almost invariably had arms and it was not until toward the close of the 16th Century that smaller types became common.

Court Is Asked To End All Censorship of Films

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio attorney, John C. Harlor of Columbus, yesterday asked the Supreme Court for a decision to end all film censorship.

He contended penal laws are sufficient to deal with indecent or obscene movies and censorship in advance is not needed.

Harlor argued for Superior Films, Inc., producer of a crime picture called "M" which was banned by Ohio censors as harmful to the public.

Delaware School Board Proposes $876,000 Program

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — Delaware city Board of Education took action Tuesday night to propose an $876,000 bond issue at the May primary.

The bond issue would finance a building program to include new elementary school building additions at North and East Schools and modernization of East, West and Willis Schools.

The board considered it wise to present the revised and tightened proposal to the voters in the primary rather than wait until November since at least 18 months must be allowed after the passage of a bond issue for planning, advertising and consideration of bids.

The proposal calls for $25,000 for a site; a new 12-room elementary building estimated at $450,000; addition of four class rooms to both North and East Schools at $184,000; modernization to East, West and Willis at $153,000; and estimated cost of equipment and furnishings for all buildings at $64,000.

Seeks Release of $90,000

Rhodes Asks Showdown Over Pike Survey Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor James A. Rhodes called today for a showdown on release of money to survey a route for a Cincinnati-Conneaut Turnpike.

Blocked yesterday in his attempt to win a commitment for release of survey funds by state controlling board members, Rhodes drafted a request for release of $90,000 for a preliminary survey at a board meeting today.

The state auditor, mentioned as a Republican gubernatorial possibility, said he would tie to his motion a request for Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche to call a special session of the Legislature to release additional money. Lausche has announced for a fifth term.

Highway Director S. O. Linzell, asked the board last August for $650,000 to complete a survey for the Cincinnati-Conneaut route. He said a $90,000 survey merely would establish whether such a turnpike was feasible. The additional $590,000, he said, would be needed to complete a survey in order to issue bonds for construction of a second Ohio turnpike.

Rhodes described his request for the smaller sum and a special session to act on the larger amount as a compromise that Lausche should approve in the interests of getting better highways for Ohio.

Two influential Republicans who have been blocking release of the funds refused to change their minds at a meeting of state officials and representatives from northeastern Ohio counties yesterday.

Key Ohio officials—including Gov. Frank J. Lausche—were banking on Rep. J. Frank McClure of Ashland and Sen. Tom V. Moorehead of Muskingum County falling into line with the other three members of the controling board

But McClure, who heads the House Finance Committee, and Moorhead, his senatorial counterpart, remained firm in their stand that it is up to the Legislature—not the controling board—to make the money available.

The Legislature begins a special session Monday to get a 500 million dollar road building program under way. Only Tuesday Lausche said a north-south turnpike was "inevitable."

Yesterday's meeting was called with the hope McClure and Moorehead would agree to release the funds if a north-south highway route could be worked out that would be agreeable to Lake, Geauga and Ashtabula counties.

EFFECTIVE PERSUASION

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—James Moorman, bouncer at a night spot, told a police court judge how he broke up a fight between two patrons. "I tried to persuade them to stop fighting. Then I noticed one had a razor, so I hit him over the head with a chair." That patron went to a hospital. The other fled.

Ohio Fuel Gas Gives Report On Expansion

More than 65 per cent of the customers of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. are now served with gas to heat their homes, C. L. Baxter, local manager, reported today.

Baxter reported on a New Year's message sent by A. W. Lundstrum, Ohio Fuel's president, to the company's 3,500 employees in the state.

Lundstrum emphasized the importance of the company's program of underground storage of gas.

Three weeks ago, on Dec. 18, when Ohio Fuel set a new high record for delivery of gas in one day, 55 per cent of the gas came from the company's underground storage fields in Ohio.

During 1953 Ohio Fuel continued its expansion program for the seventh consecutive year. Since 1946 Ohio Fuel has invested more than $118 million in new pipelines and other facilities.

Lundstrum cited these accomplishments:

1. The volume of gas Ohio Fuel delivered to its customers in 1953 was twice as much as in 1946. Of all the 48 states, Ohio is second only to California in the amount of natural gas delivered to homes.

2. Since 1946 Ohio Fuel has extended gas service to 112,000 additional homes. The company now serves 565,000 customers.

3. Ohio Fuel has provided gas heat for seven times as many homes as had it in 1946. The company now serves 368,000—more than 65 per cent of its customers—with gas for space heating.

A new $129 million pipeline, being built by the Gulf Interstate Company, is scheduled to be completed in 1954. It will extend 820 miles from Louisiana, to bring more gas to more Ohio homes, Lundstrum said.

Income Tax Problems Discussed by Attorneys

"Current Income Tax Problems" was the topic discussed when a group of Marion attorneys met Wednesday for an informal luncheon at the Hotel Harding.

Discussing that topic was George Piacentino, local attorney and city solicitor. He was introduced by William Gracely, who served as toastmaster. Chairman of a committee making arrangements for the gathering was Charlton Myers.

Box of Records Stolen From Automobile Found

Recovery of two boxes filled with records and canceled checks, taken from the car owned by Raymond White of 146 Uhler Ave Sunday, was reported today by city police.

Police said a Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad employe found the two boxes on Fountain St. just south of the C & O tracks Wednesday afternoon. The boxes and their contents were returned to White. Nothing appeared to be missing.

150 Adults Sign For Night Classes

Some 150 persons registered Wednesday for the 1954 Marion Adult Education program which is scheduled to get under way Jan. 19 and 21.

Registration yesterday was fair, according to Emil J. Lisak, director of trades and industries at Harding High School. Largest number of registrants was recorded in the typing and stationary fireman and engineer classes.

Interested persons may register for the night classes by phoning 2-0235 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. or by applying at the high school from 7:30-9 p.m. today and tomorrow. Fee for most courses is $5 and classes are slated to continue for 10 weeks.

Enrollment of 12 persons for each class is required to form any course and subjects to be offered will be based upon registration.

Special to The Star

KENTON — Three new members took oath of office this week as Kenton City Council organized for the next two years.

More Cases Handled, Taxes Increase in '53

The increase can be attributed in part to large estates of J. Malcolm Strelitz and Mrs. Florence M. Young.

Tebbetts Hopeful

Mound Crew Big Problem For New Cincinnati Pilot

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—"From what I know of the Reds, our most important job will be to get the pitching, especially righthanding pitching, straightened out."

That was one of the first statements made by Birdie Tebbetts soon after his appointment as Cincinnati manager following the conclusion of the 1953 baseball season.

Tebbetts followed up his words with action by authorizing the purchase of four minor league pitchers, all righthanders.

Art Fowler (18-10) was purchased from Atlanta, Bill Powell (14-9) was bought from Charleston, George Zuverink (13-8) was acquired from Indianapolis and Jim Melton (10-10) was obtained from St. Paul. They will be among 12 rookie hurlers reporting, with nine other newcomers, to the Reds' spring training camp at Tampa, Fla., next month.

Fowler is no callow youth as far as rookies go. He will be 31 next summer. But his 3.03 earned run average was the lowest in the Southern Association. Powell, along with third baseman Charlie Harmon and outfilder Nino Escalera, may be the first Negroes to make the Reds. Zuverink, 28, is a personal choice of Tebbetts, who managed him at Indianapolis last year. Melton, 25, pitched in the Brooklyn Dodgers' chain.

Back for another trial are righthanders Howie Judson, Barney Martin and southpaw Niles Jordan.

Judson won all his 11 decisions at Tulsa last season. Martin had a 17-6 record at Columbia, S. C. Jordan won 8 of 9 with Rochester after posting a 4-5 mark with Tulsa. Maurice Fisher (16-7) and Hal (Corky) Valentine (13-6) are Columbia graduates. Lefty Cliff Ross was 7-8 at Tulsa. Returning servicemen Tom Acker and Moe Savransky are highly regarded.

Harmon, who batted .319 at Tulsa, and Gene Hatton (.260 at Columbia with 16 homers), a cousin of Cincinnati's Grady Hatton, are the only new infielders.

Three prize Redleg rookies are catcher Ed Bailey and outfielders Jim Bolger and Wally Post.

Bailey, who hit 20 homers and drove in 86 runs at Tulsa, had a brief trial last year and showed he is capable of making a strong bid for a regular job. Bolger, .301 at Columbia, is rated an outstanding defensive player. Redleg officials believe Post, who hit 33 homers and drove in 120 runs at Indianapolis, is ready to make the grade.

Joe Szekely (.271 at Shreveport), Bob Hazle (.268 at Tulsa) and Escalera (.304 at Tulsa) aren't given too much chance of breaking into the outfield, rated as the strongest part of the team. Not too much hope is held out for Dick Kinaman, a 28-year-old catcher, who hit under .250 with both Syracuse and Indianapolis last season. At best, this quartet appears to be at least a year away from the big time.

University Experiments Producing Compounds

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP) — New developments in the geological department of the University of California have successfully produced several natural mineral compounds never before synthesized in the laboratory.

Researchers said the work will shed new light on geological processes operating in the outer part of the earth's surface. The experiments being conducted yield information that may contribute to industrial manufacture of silicate materials.

It was a shortage of these materials during World War II that led to much of the current research.

Many silicate materials have desirable optical magnetic, electric and thermal properties and are now being manufactured synthetically on an industrial scale instead of being mined.

ASK ABOUT WARDS TERMS

THE instant you see these 1954 Buicks, you'll know that something sensational has happened in automobile styling.

Here is vastly more than the usual model changeover. Here is vastly more than could be done just by warming over what Buick had before. Here is something accomplished by going far beyond artful face-lifting.

Here is that rarity of rarities—a completely new line of automobiles.

But Buick didn't stop with the bolder, fresher, swifter-lined beauty you see in raised and lengthened fender sweep—in the huge and back-swept expanse of windshield—in the lowered roofline—in the host more glamor features of exterior modernity.

They upped all horsepowers to the highest in Buick history.

They engineered a new V8 for the SPECIAL—and in the process came up with new Power-Head Pistons that boost gasoline mileage in every engine.

They brought to market a sparkling newcomer with a famous name, the Buick CENTURY—a car with phenomenal horsepower for its weight and price—a car with more pure thrill per dollar than any Buick ever built.

And they did all this without change of the price structure which, for years, has made Buick the most popular car at its price in the world.

We invite you in to inspect these great beauties, these great performers, these great buys. Then you'll see why the Detroit previewers are already saying, "Buick's the beautiful buy!"

Exemplar of the 1954 Buick's years-from-now styling is this stunning new SUPER Riviera

Lower Taxes in Store

Here Are Major Recommendations From President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Topic by topic, here is the gist of major recommendations President Eisenhower made to Congress today, including many to be spelled out in future messages:

Strong economy—Measures will include flexible credit and public debt policies; tax adjustments to spur spending; loans and guarantees, expanded social security; revised plans for agriculture and foreign trade; advance planning for public works.

Taxes—There will be further reductions later. A broad early revision should include liberalization as to working children, medical expenses and widows and widowers with dependent children; for business, a break on depreciation, research and retained earnings But scheduled, excise and corporation income tax cuts should not go into effect.

Budget—It will move closer to balance, but a debt limit raise is needed.

Agriculture—Supports should become flexible, but without sudden price drops, to stimulate consumption. Existing surpluses should be "insulated" from trade channels through such programs as relief and emergency stockpiles.

Defense—Emphasis is on nuclear weapons and air power. Some information on use of atomic weapons should be shared with friends. Continental defense is being strengthened. The United States should participate in developing the St. Lawrence Waterway as a security measure. The services' fringe benefits should be used generously.

Atomic energy-for-peace proposal—A truly constructive Soviet reaction would hold great hopes for peace.

Foreign affairs, foreign assistance and trade — U.S. policy includes readiness in Korea and support of its free government; continued help against Communists in Indochina, retaining Okinawa, support of the Euroean Defense Community and the United Nations. Military and technical assistance should continue to friends; economic assistance in most places except Korea can be reduced. The Defense Department should have main responsibility for military aid. Trade should be freer.

Internal security—Persons convicted of conspiring forcibly to overthrow the government in the future should lose their citizenship.

Health — The government can help private health plans with reinsurance.

Suffrage — A constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18 should be submitted; Hawaii should promptly be made a state.

Labor and welfare — The Taft-Hartley act should be amended along lines to be proposed; unemployment insurance should be extended to 6½ million persons not now covered and social security to an additional 10 million.

Housing — A program will be presented including low interest long time loans and aids for slum clearance.

Conservation — The government should continue to construct major flood control and power projects too big for local development and strengthen its agricultural conservation and flood prevention programs.

Highways—The prospective half cent gasoline tax cut should be cancelled. The government should continue its central role in federal highway work.

Postoffice—Recommended postal rate increases should go through.

Education—The federal government should help states unable to build necessary schools.

Defense

hydrogen bomb of potentially unlimited destructive power.

2. "New relationships between men and materials . . . permit economies in the use of men . . . the air power of our Navy and Air Force is receiving heavy emphasis."

Here Eisenhower obviously had in mind the proposed gradual reduction of troop strength, which is expected to bring the Army down from a present manpower level of about 1½ million to a force of about 1,128,000 by the summer of 1955. The build-up in air power is expected to include expanding the Air Force to a strengh of 116 1-3 wings during the year, to 127 wings two years hence and later to an eventual goal of 137 wings. Present strength of the Air Force is 110 wings, of which about 105 are at full effectivenes. (A wing varies from 30 planes for a heavy bomber unit to 75 for a fighter unit.)

3. "Our armed forces must regain maximum mobility of action. Our strategic reserves must be centrally placed and readily deployable to meet sudden aggression against ourselves and our Allies."

Eisenhower had presented this idea in announcing Dec. 26 that two Army divisions are to be withdrawn from the forces on the truce line in Korea. He said in that announcement the two divisions would be returned to the United States. In the same announcement, he emphasized the highly mobile feature of the armed forces.

4. "Pay alone will not retain in the career service of our armed forces the necessary numbers of long-term personnel. I strongly urge, therefore, a more generous use of other benefits important to service morale. Among these are adequate living quarters and family housing units, and medical care for dependents."

5. Ability to "convert swiftly from partial to all-out mobilization" of war goods production is imperative. "For the first time, mobilization officials know what the requirements are for 1,000 major items needed for military use" and thus the country "is at least to have an up-to-date mobilization base."

6. Continental defense measures "must and are being strengthened." In the next fiscal year the government will spend nearly a billion dollars more than in the present year.

Public Warned on Use Of Rat-Killing Drug

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Michigan State College scientist warned today against the improper use of warfarin, a drug found in some 300 types of rat poison currently on the market.

Dr. B. V. Alfredson of the School of Veterinary Medicine at Michigan State said warfarin, considered a good rodent exterminator, may be fatal to dogs and cats. He advised pet owners to keep any bait on which warfarin-containing exterminent has been used out of the reach of their animals.

SCOTTY DIES. Death Valley Scotty (Walter Scott), desert prospector and a colorful figure for half a century, died at his fabulous desert castle at Stovepipe Wells in California's Death Valley. He was 81.

President's Message

of the many families which want and should have it." He promised to elaborate in a special message Jan. 18.

Favors Seaway

—Appealed again for Congressional approval of the St. Lawrence Seaway as vital to national security.

—Urged Senate passage of the House-approved bill to grant statehood to Hawaii.

Eisenhower went before the legislators just 24 hours after opening of the second session of the 83rd Congress.

His message, carried to the nation by television and radio, came at the start of a political year which will be climaxed by the November Congressional elections.

Republicans now hold only a slim margin of control at the Capitol and the Democrats are hopeful they can slip into the saddle. Meanwhile, the administration must win some degree of support from the Democrats for any success in putting through the program Eisenhower said has one objective —"The building of a stronger America."

Bi-Partisan Program

He told the legislators he believes "both of our great parties" can back it.

As for tax cuts in addition to the income tax reductions and expiration of the excess profits levy which were effective Jan. 1, the President said:

"As additional reductions in expenditures are brought gradually but surely into sight, further reductions in taxes can and will be made."

At another point, he declared:

"Despite the substantial loss of revenue in the coming fiscal year, resulting from (Jan. 1) tax reduction now in effect and tax adjustments which I shall propose our reduced spending will move the new budget closer to a balance."

1½-Billion Cut

The President said the tax revision program will be set forth in detail in his Jan. 21 budget message. Informed sources have predicted cuts totaling about 1½ billion dollars annually.

Calling today for a thorough revision of the entire tax structure, Eisenhower declared:

"We should now remove the more glaring tax inequities, particularly on small taxpayers; reduce restraints on the growth of small business; and make other changes that will encourage initiative, enterprise and production."

On the other side of the picture, however, the President said again that corporation income taxes should be kept at the current rate of 52 per cent for another year instead of being allowed to drop to 47, and that excise taxes on such items as liquor, tobacco, gasoline and automobiles—also scheduled for an April 1 cut—should be maintained at prevailing rates.

Says Initiative Gained

On the foreign policy and national defense fronts, where Eisenhower already has made an open bid for cooperation from the Democrats, he said America has gained the initiative during the last year in the struggle against communism—and means to keep it

"American freedom," he declared, "is threatened so long as the world Communist conspiracy exists in its present scope, power and hostility."

Referring to his Dec. 8 United Nations speech calling on Russia to join with the U. S. and other atomic powers in creation of an international atomic pool for peaceful use, the President said:

"A truly constructive Soviet reaction will make possible a new start toward an era of peace, and away from the fatal road toward atomic war."

No References To Talks

In his prepared text, Eisenhower took no note of Moscow's announcement last night of willingness to join the United States in discussion of the President's proposal in Washington.

Today's message was in three main sections dealing with protection of "the freedom of our people." maintenance of a strong, growing economy, and "the human problems of the individual citizen."

In the first section the President reviewed the world situation and found it encouraging. He said the United States is prepared to meet any renewal of armed aggression in Korea, that American bases in Okinawa will be maintained indefinitely, and that he will ask congress to authorize "continued military assistance" to Indochina.

"We also shall continue military and economic aid to the Nationalist government of China," he said.

The President again stressed the desirability of bringing the European Defense Army into being.

Blasts Subversives

Eisenhower's demand that convicted conspirators against the government forfeit their U.S. citizenship was aimed squarely at the Communists.

"The subversive character of the Communist party in the United States has been clearly demonstrated in many ways, including court proceedings," he said.

The President said Atty. Gen. Brownell soon will go before Congressional committees to recommend "needed additional weapons with which to combat subversion . . . "

In that section of the message dealing with the administration's determination to sustain prosperity, Eisenhower — in what appeared to be an oblique allusion to increased unemployment — declared:

"At this moment, we are in a transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy. I am confident that we can complete this transition without serious interuption in our economic growth.

"But we shall not leave this vital matter to chance. Economic preparedness is fully is important to the nation as military preparedness."

Asks Postal Rate Hike

Eisenhower renewed his call for postal rate increases, and he said the federal government is continuing its "central role" in the highway construction program.

In the section of his speech on the problems of the individual citizen, Eisenhower mentioned plans for Taft-Hartley law changes, expanded unemployment compensation and social security coverage, broadening of hospital and medical insurance programs, federal aid to states which can't provide enough school buildings, and a housing program designed to provide, among other things, insurance on long-term mortgage loans with a small down payment for low income families.

tended to provide supplies in excess of normal needs.

Details Due Monday

The President said he would send his detailed farm recommendations to Congress Monday.

He said the present farm programs had accomplished their wartime purpose of encouraging needed production. But in the postwar period, he said, they had piled up huge surpluses.

He said the nation faces two alternatives on a farm program — (1) use of rigid production controls or (2) use of a program that would pemit the market price for farm products "gradually to have a greater influence on the planning of production by farmers, while continuing the assistance of the government."

"The latter," he said, "is a sound approach."

The President said present sealed-off surpluses could be used for the school lunch programs, for disaster relief, emergency assistance to foreign friends, and for stockpiling of reserves for national emergency.

"I have chosen this farm program," he said, "because it will build markets, protect the consumers' food supply and move food into consumption instead of into storage. It is a program that will remove the threat to the farmer of these overhanging surpluses, a program, also, that will stimulate production when a commodity is scarce and encourage consumption when nature is bountiful."

Most of the ballots against the Premier came from the Communists, who oppose his whole program, and the Socialists, who are against his conservative domestic policies.

Laniel normally would have resigned in accordance with French custom after President-elect Rene Coty takes office Jan. 17. With the Big Four Conference due to open only eight days later, he feared a prolonged government crisis then, which would have left France with only a caretaker foreign minister to send to Berlin.

In his policy review, the Premier gave no indication of what position Bidault would take in Berlin on the No. 1 item of discussion, the future of Germany.

President Asks 18-Year-Olds Be Given Vote

Favors Amendment Granting Franchise To Cover All 48 States

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today proposed the Constitution be amended to give 18-year-olds the vote—but the Constitution nowhere says voters have to be 21, or any other particular age.

Then why an amendment? Because of the division of powers, in the U. S. governmental system, between national and state governments.

The Constitution specifies no qualifications for voters. Therefore this matter is left to the "reserved powers" of the states, each to set its own rules.

As a matter of fact, 18-year-olds have had the vote in Georgia since 1944.

The legislatures of the other 47 states could, if they chose, enfranchise their youngsters. But to put the change into effect nationwide all at once would require a constitutional amendment and probably a pretty carefully worded one. This amendment would have to be passed by a two-thirds majority of each house of congress, then ratified by three-fourths of the states.

The women's suffrage amendment of 1919 didn't "give" women the right to vote—the female citizens of a number of states already had it.

The amendment said the right of citizens to vote "shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

That negative wording could serve as a model if an 18-year-old voter amendment is drafted.

Meantime, Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said flatly, "we definitely have a motive." But he refused to disclose it.

O'Brien also said he did not know whether the Walter and Victor shootings had any connection.

In the Essex County Court at Windsor a letter from O'Brien was read which said "Jacobs participated in the actual shooting (of Walter)."

Later O'Brien said, however, that he did not mean that Jacobs was the triggerman. He refused to say exactly what he did mean.

Jacobs pleaded ignorance of anything concerned with the case. He was arraigned on Canadian extradition warrant. He will be given an international extradition hearing Jan. 14.

Foreign aid specialists in the Eisenhower administration believe this amount should be sufficient for this fiscal year, provided a follow-up program can be devised for the 12-month period beginning next July 1.

and that his plan would avoid duplication of effort.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), the internal security subcommittee chairman, told reporters that "as far as I know, the people in Congress seem well satisfied" with the job his subcommittee is doing.

'No Need To Abolish It'

"I see no need to abolish it and start all over again," he added.

Sen. Ellender (D-La), who has announced he will fight to have appropriations for the McCarthy subcommittee "cut down to size" from their present $200,000 a year level, promptly announced he would resist any proposal to create new committees. He based his stand on economy grounds.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said he would go along with the plan if Mundt presses it, but that he doesn't expect it will get far.

Threatens Force

Pyun threatened Tuesday to invade the Indian custodial troops in the Korean neutral zone.

Taylor issued a cold, brief statement at Seoul Wednesday night that 8th Army troops were pledged to protect Indian troops against an attack.

Pyun had threatened to attack the Indians because of a roster check or headcount of anti-Communist prisoners, during which 135 POWs asked and were granted repatriation to Red China.

President Syngman Rhee met with Cabinet officers Thursday to consider the Taylor statement and afterwards Pyun said in an interview:

"We are now making new arrangements as a test and if the arrangements pass the test we do not have to use force against the Indians."

The arrangements, he said, were between Rhee and Taylor.

Pyun denied earlier rumors in Seoul that he had resigned his post after the Taylor rebuke.

Taylor's troops have erected barbed wire and steel barricades south of the demilitarized zone to handle anti-Red prisoners of war when they are freed.

The U.N. has insisted that the armistice calls for unqualified release of prisoners after midnight Jan. 22.

Korean POWs would be kept in South Korea. U.S ships would take anti-Red Chinese to Formosa.

NEW HOUSECLEANING AID

NEW YORK (UP)—Now there's a vacuum cleaner attachment which does the bulk of the work when you clean rugs and upholstery with "dry" soapsuds. The attachment consists of a spray gun fitted with a fine screen, plus a jar to be filled with soap and water. Slight pressure on a valve button releases the soapy water, which is broken into "dry" bubbles when it strikes the screen.

Worst Storms In 15 Years Hit Northern Italy

LONDON (AP) — Europe shivered some more from winter ice and snow today. Northern Italians, the continent's hardest hit, struggled to dig out from under the white blanket before new storms hit.

Dozens of small villages in the Italian Alps and Apennines were isolated after the worst snowstorm in 15 years.

Huge drifts closed many miles of highways. A textile mill collapsed last night under tons of snow near Pordenone but its 350 employes had left for the day.

In industrial Turin only major highways were cleared in the wake of 40 hours of snow.

Italy's flood damage in the Po River delta could not be estimated. Great areas of rich farmlands were wrecked and fishermen suffered large losses. Six small villages were inundated.

Water driven in from the Adriatic Sea was subsiding today, and there were no reports of casualties.

Most of Britain faced at least another day of snow, rain, ice and freezing winds. But London itself awoke to a friendly sun after a bitter night of slush and snow.

Fifteen men were killed last night when an RAF plane crashed in a snowstorm on the Chiltern Hills in Hertfordshire, England. They were members of a rugby team returning to their base after losing 26-6 in an RAF rugby cup match.

Across the channel in France, the Paris region had an inch of snow. But after dipping yesterday to 21 degrees, the temperature rose to 34 today.

Sheriff's Wife

prisoners push their dishes into the kitchen through a small opening leading from the cell areas.

Mrs. Obenour, assisted by a trusty, fills the dishes and pushes them back across to the prisoners.

Favorite foods of the prisoners, Mrs. Obenour has learned during the year, include chili soup, beef stew, and beef and noodles.

And just like any other meal planner, Mrs. Obenour makes special plans for "holiday" meals for the prisoners. For example, on Thanksgiving it was "turkey and all the trimmings" for them. And on Christmas it was a ham dinner.

And just like in any other family, Mrs. Obenour has experienced those times when the groceries didn't arrive on time, and a quick substitution of foods became necessary.

THE SHERIFF'S WIFE has learned, too, during the past year that she has to be flexible in the amount of food she is cooking, especially for lunch. She never knows how many new prisoners will be brought in following a Municipal Court session. They are usually brought to the jail around 11 in the morning, and she has to be sure there will be enough food to go around.

After she has served the prisoners, Mrs. Obenour has to fix the meals for her husband and children, built around the same food served in the jail. Sometimes she has to juggle things around, always having to consider that the sheriff may have to respond to emergency calls.

Besides the prisoners and her own family, the sheriff's wife has another "regular" guest for breakfast. He is Emery Hurley who is a ward of the sheriff who is in office. Not too long ago, when Emery was celebrating a birthday, he was guest of honor at a luncheon planned by Mrs. Obenour and attended by the sheriff's deputies and staff.

THE ONLY HELP Mrs. Obenour has in cooking these meals comes from a trusty who had a little experience in a restaurant. He has helped her in the kitchen since September, and on occasion when Mrs. Obenour had to accompany her husband to Columbus when taking a patient to the State Hospital, this trusty has gone ahead and fixed and served a meal.

In looking back over the past year, Mrs. Obenour is happy to recall that the most serious "faux pas" that has happened in connection with the 20,000 meals is the time she served an un-salted meal, thinking the truste had added salt to the food.

Diesel Locomotive Built To Give Greater Power

CHICAGO (UP) — The electromotive division of General Motors has announced a new line of diesel locomotives, including one four-unit freight hauler with an increase of 1,000 horsepower.

The new line consists of 10 locomotive types. Deliveries to railroads will begin next January. The locomotives are being turned out at the division's plants in LaGrange, Ill., and Cleveland, O.

The four-unit freight locomotive has been stepped up from 6,000 to 7,000 horsepower. This is 1,600 more than the horsepower rating of the first U. S. diesel freight locomotive brought out by electromotive in 1940. Other models in the new line have increased horsepower of lesser amounts.

Trellis Mae Overdrawn Again

Wilbur's Suspicions Are Proved Right

By HAL BOYLE

HOMETOWN, U.S.A. (AP)—"What makes men hold onto their money so?" demanded Trellis Mae Peeble, America's most average housewife.

Wilbur lowered his morning newspaper until their eyes met across the breakfast table.

"Dear," he said, "a wife's conversation is like a jigsaw puzzle—it takes a fellow some time to make any kind of pattern out of it. What are you trying to get at? I don't know any man who is holding on to his money."

"Well, Winthrop Rockefeller is, I read it in the newspaper before you got up."

"Is he? How does he do it?"

"By refusing to give it to Bobo."

"What's a Bobo?"

"Oh, don't act so dumb. Bobo is Winthrop's wife," said Trellis Mae, who always spoke of famous people by their first name.

"Why won't he give it to Bobo?" replied Wilbur, who was trying to read an article about the electric power problem in India.

"Well, they are separated, and Winthrop moved to Arkansas to forget it all. Now he wants to settle six million dollars on her, but his lawyer says Bobo is holding out for 10 million dollars. Isn't that a silly thing to quarrel over?"

"It could be a matter of principle," said Wilbur. "And four million dollars is a pretty big principle."

"If she takes the six million dollars," mused Trellis Mae, "It says she could invest it so as to get about 120,000 tax-free dollars a year. That's not so much, is it?"

"Only about 325 bucks or so a day, including Sundays and the 29th of February during leap years," dryly remarked her husband. "But, of course, if she took it in silver dollars it would make quite a jingle in her purse."

"Whose side are you on, anyway?" asked his wife.

"I don't believe in mixing in family quarrels. I wish they'd kiss and make up—even if it put 50 divorce lawyers in a breadline."

"Well, I certainly think you'd be more generous than Winthrop. Remember what you told me when we had our first big quarrel and I threatened to leave you?"

"No, indeed," said Wilbur cautiously.

"You told me I could have half of everything you owned."

"Yeah, that was nice of me. But what did I own then?"

"You didn't own anything. You were even overdrawn at the bank."

"Well," said Wilbur, "if Winthrop was in the same spot I was, I'll bet he'd be just as big a sport about it. You always have to take the circumstances into considera tion. Why didn't you leave me a-way?"

"With no carfare and mother 300 miles away?" laughed Trellis Mae. "A girl has to be practical. I wouldn't leave you even if you made the same offer again today to give me half of everything we have in the bank."

Wilbur looked at her suspiciously.

"Is our account overdrawn again?" he demanded. Trellis Mae nodded.

"I thought this conversation finally would lead somewhere," said Wilbur crossly. "Why can't you be more careful about your check stubs."

"I will," promised his wife. Grumbling as he started to leave for work, Wilbur held out his hand for his usual two-dollar lunch money and cigarette allowance. Trellis Mae put only a single dollar in it.

"A buck for lunch," griped Wilbur. "A mouse can't live on that."

"My mouse can," said his wife. She kissed him.

"G'bye, Bobo," he said.

"G'bye, Winthrop."

OCEOLA CHILD BETTER

BUCYRUS — Twelve-year-old Judith Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, is back in the family home, located near Oceola, northwest of here, after an illness, first diagnosed as bulbar polio, proved to be a combination of a cold and pneumonia. The child was taken from Wyandot Memorial Hospital, Upper Sanduskyy, to University Hospital, Columbus, on Dec. 28 when a preliminary examination indicated she had polio. The illness caused a partial paralysis of the face and throat but the child is much better now and is not confined to a bed.

Two-Headed Girl Born In Brazil Is Doing Well

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—A two-headed baby girl born 23 days ago is doing well and gaining weight normally, reports from Belo Horizonte said last night.

Dr. Armando Achilles Tenuta of Sao Vicente Hospital was reported as saying the baby now weighs 9 pounds, 12 ounces.

The infant is the daughter of Mrs. Geralda Francisca de Jesus, wife of a rural storekeeper. The hospital disclosed the baby has two completely separate hearts and respiratory systems, one digestive system, four arms and three legs.

Barons Shatter Fort Wayne's Jinx With 6-1 Victory

First Win Against Komets Knots Marion for Fourth

The Fort Wayne jinx was broken last night by the Marion Barons before a crowd of 1,605 fans at the Coliseum. The Barons raced by the visiting Komets 6-1 for their first win of the season over that team.

In four previous meetings, the Komets had registered four one-point victories. Three of those wins were by 3-2 counts while the other score was 5-4.

Tied for Fourth

The win last night elevated the Barons into a tie for fourth place in the league standings. Marion, Troy and Grand Rapids are knotted for the position with 38 points. Grand Rapids managed a 4-4 tie with Toledo to remain in the deadlock. Toledo and Johnstown are tied for second-place with 40 points, just two ahead of the Barons.

The Marion team left today for Milwaukee where it will tangle tonight with the cellar - dwelling Chiefs. Following tonight's scrap, which will be played without the services of Ken Schultz and Phil Vitale, the Barons move to Cincinnati for a game Saturday night and will play the league-leaders here Sunday afternoon.

Schult and Vitale will be idled tonight by suspensions handed out as the result of penalties called in a Sunday brawl with Toledo's Mercurys.

In last night's game, the Barons lost little time in showing they were out to end the Fort Wayne string. During the first period, Marion pelted Ivan Walmsley, Fort Wayne goalie, with 16 shots. Several other attempts were deflected by a tightly-knit Fort Wayne defense. Walmsley kept his head above water for the first 15 minutes and 11 seconds. Then Hal Jones started the scoring parade when he batted in a goal which Fort Wayne disputed. Schultz assisted on the play but Fort Wayne argued with Goal Judge Jack Ellison that the score was no good. Referee Mickey Drouillard settled the argument by allowing the score. Eddie Long came back at 18:16 to score the Komets' only goal. The goal came after he took a pass from Edgar Blondin.

Jones Scores Again

Jones came back with his second goal of the game after 1:05 of the second period. An assist went to Steve Brklacich. Murray Wilkie and Joe Ingoldsby teamed up for the Barons' first insurance tally at the 4:35 mark with Wilkie potting the score.

In the final period, Coach Ott Heller scored after taking a backward pass from Schultz at 6:22. Less than a minute later, at the 7:07 mark, Schultz scored with assists credited to Heller and Hal Jones. The final score was by Gordie Vejprava at 15:12 with an assist from Heller and Wimpy Jones, Heller shot for the net but the disc was deflected in for the score by Vejprava.

Schultz, who ranks high in the scoring race, added to his point total last night with one goal and two assists. Heller finished the game with the same total.

The Komet goal tender finished the game with 36 saves while Marion's Lou Crowdis had to bat out only 18 Fort Wayne attempts.

Writers Select Rosen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Sports Writers Assn. has chosen third baseman Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians the Outstanding Athlete of 1953.

Rosen was picked yesterday over another Cleveland favorite, the Browns' NFL passing ace, Otto Graham. Rosen, voted Most Valuable Player in the American League last season, will be honored at he writers' 50th annual dinner Jan. 25.

Motor Product Squad Defeats Ashley Quintet

After dropping the opening two games of the season, Marion Industries came back strong Wednesday night at the YMCA to defeat the Ashley Merchants and narrow the number of undefeated teams in the Industrial and Independent League to two teams. Only the Marion AC, which dropped Raymond last night, and Green Camp Elevator remain on top with unblemished records. Green Camp leads the loop with four wins and no losses while the AC's have chalked up three straight without a loss. Tops among Industrial teams is the UAW-CIO five with two wins and two losses.

Marion Industries raced to a 21-8 first period lead over Ashley with a barrage of buckets from every spot on the floor and coasted to a 70-45 romp over the Merchants. Cheney and Griffith led the scoring in the first period and finally emerged at the Industries high point men with 18 and 19 points. Dick Howard again paced Ashley with 23 points.

Marion A. C. systematically worked the Raymond defenses over to chalk up win number three by a 57-41 count. Bob Hall paced the winners with 18 points, Steinmetz netted eight to lead the losing Raymond five. The AC's led 15-10 at the quarter and 34-19 by half time to coast to the victory.

Marion Power Shovel notched its first win of the season by overcoming a 10-point deficit in the third quarter to edge Waldo 60-55. Trailing 28-21 at half time and 36-26 midway in the third quarter the Shovel connected for nine straight points to trail by a point at the start of the final period. A final rush in the last four minutes gave the winners a five point cushion which they held until the finish.

Harding, St. Mary Prepping For League Tests on Road

Harding and St. Mary will be after their first league victories when they see action on foreign courts tomorrow night.

The Prexies will go to Fostoria for a Buckeye League encounter, while the Irish will travel to Richwood for a Mid-Ohio Conference tilt. Each team has 0-1 records in its league.

Harding will be fighting to keep its head above the .500 mark while St. Mary will be attempting to improve a 5-4 record. The Prxies have a 4-4- slate.

Fostoria has registered a 3-5 record so far this season. The team dumped Sandusky 51-39, Toledo MacComber 53-49 and Bowling Green 51-50 but lost out to Lorain 56-40, Mansfield 67-52, Fremont Ross 49-46 in an overtime, Cincinnati Western Hills 46-45 and Bellevue 68-55.

Only two veterans, center Jim Arwood, 6-3, and forward Hubert Landers, 6-0, are listed on the Fostoria starting lineup. The rest of the first five includes forward Tony Nixon, 6-2, and guards Pat Thornton and Carl Nye, both 5-10. Red Berry, a 6-4 center, and Bob Goddard are also slated to see a lot of action.

Arwood is currently the team's top scorer, averaging about 15 points per game.

Fostoria uses what has been described as a "shoot and hope" offense. It's a possession type of ball with no fast break. On defense, Fostoria uses both the zone and man-to-man.

St. Mary's opposition, Richwood, goes into the game with a 7-2 record.

The Tigers have run over Darby, 62-42, Union 62-53, Johnstown 52-47, Byhalia 74-64, Cardington 81-70, Northwestern 55 - 50 and Magnetic Springs 73-68. The only teams to trip Richwood have been Marysville 59-44 and Morral 75-58.

R. D. Fetter, Richwood coach, plans to start his usual first five. That would be Tom Shields and Max Huffman, both 6-0, at the forwards, Bob Shearer, also 6-0, in the pivot, and John Coder, 5-11, and Larry Chapman, 5-9, at the guards.

Shields is currently Richwood's top man with 184 points for an average of 20 points per game.

County Schools Will Resume League Action Friday

Prospect Seeks Fifth Win To Remain Close to Morral

Marion County quintets break back into county league action Friday after the long holiday layoff with Morral and Prospect bidding to stay neck and neck in the league wars with victories.

Both seek victories on enemy courts, Morral traveling to Waldo while Prospect goes to Green Camp. Coach Vern Hensel's Wildcats currently lead the county league race with a 5-0 slate with Prospect only a step behind at 4-0.

Prospect Favored

Prospect's opponent, Green Camp, isn't expected to cause Coach Bob Kelly's five much trouble. Green Camp has won but two of five starts in county league play, beating Martel 71-33 and Caledonia 56-63 while losing to LaRue 70-54, Waldo 52-43 and Morral 80-61.

LEAGUE STANDINGS

Martel	0	5	203	389

Prospect thus far has tripped Claridon, last year's county tournament winner, 60-51, Caledonia 53-43, Pleasant 93-48 and New Bloomington 57-35. Big guns for the club in its four county league contests are Bob Rodgers with 66 points, Woods with 59 and Hickman with 41.

Waldo's defending county league champs aren't given much chance of dumping Morral. Waldo has split even in four county league matches, whipping Green Camp 52-43 and Pleasant 54-42 while losing to Meeker 49-46 and LaRue 68-52. Meanwhile, Morral has breezed by Meeker 65-44, Green Camp 80-61, New Bloomington 82-35, LaRue 72-48 and Pleasant 71-28.

Pacing the Morral offense through its first five county league tilts are John Craycraft with 91 points, Clair Hensel with 78, Ted Murphy with 53 and Junior Bell with 48. Craycraft's scoring figure is second only to Pleasant's Gorby, who has dumped in 95 points in county league play.

While Morral and Prospect are seeking victories which will keep them one-two in the league standings, Claridon and Meeker will be bidding to stay in the running for league honors with their fourth league victories. Both are currently tied for third in the league with 3-1 marks. Meeker entertains Caledonia, 1-4, while Claridon travels to Pleasant, 2-3.

Claridon at Pleasant

Claridon will be favored over the Pleasant crew. Only loss marring Claridon's record was the defeat at Prospect. Its wins were over New Bloomington 12-7, Martel 82-33, and Caledonia 52-32. Pleasant has beaten Caledonia 45-43 and Martel 74-50 while bowing to Waldo, Prospect and Morral. Leading scorer for the Hornets is Bud Price with 57 points. Supporting him are Johnston with 39 and Gene Jessie with 32.

Meeker is expected to squeeze past Coledonia. Meeker has defeated Waldo 49-46, Martel 97-42 and LaRue 59-51 while suffering its only county league defeat at the hands of Morral. Caledonia's lone county league triumph was over New Bloomington 57-26. Losses were to Claridon, Prospect, Green Camp and Pleasant. Meeker's big gun thus far is Sharp who has connected for 70 markers. Newland has added 64.

LaRue will be favored over Martel in the lone remaining county league tilt. The game is scheduled on the LaRue floor. LaRue is currently tied with Waldo for fourth spot in the league with a 2-2 slate formed on wins over Waldo and Green Camp and losses to Morral and Meeker. Martel rests in the league cellar position and seems destined to remain there. It has lost to New Bloomington 65-45, Meeker, Pleasant, Claridon and Green Camp. Sparking the LaRue attack to date are Larry Hickman with 67 points and Gene Cooper with 65 points.

Radnor at New Bloomington

New Bloomington has the week off from county league play but meets Radnor on the New Bloomington floor.

Other high county league scorers to date are Augenstein of Waldo with 73 points; Stover of Green Camp with 79; Barden of Martel with 76; Don Yake of Waldo with 53; D. Linstedt of Martel with 57; Dickerson of Caledonia with 55; Rush of Green Camp with 51; Hunt of Caledonia with 51; Schwaderer of New Bloomington with 50; Finch of Green Camp with 47; Freshour of Pleasant with 47; Green of Caledonia with 44; Johnson of New Bloomington with 43; and Beers of New Bloomington with 36.

Mather Shows College Ranks How It's Done

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ray Ride, athletic director of Case University at Cleveland, hinted today that school might give up football—possibly within the week.

Ray said the action might be taken because of lack of interest on the part of the student body, not on the part of the players. Jack St. Germain is the Case coach.

Another Ohio coach, Glenn Fraser of Ohio Wesleyan, makes a bid for a bigger job today when he is interviewed by Ike Armstrong of Minnesota about he berth vacated by Wes Fesler. Fraser is a Minnesota grad.

Chuck Mather, Massillon High School coach, is the only scholastic mentor appearing on the program of the 31st annual convention of the American Football Coaches Assn. The Massillon mentor, Ohio Coach of the Year three times in winning six straight state titles with the Tigers, but his defense on display via film before a packed house last night.

The college coaches were awed by the ability and agility of the Massillons, especially on downfield blocking, and Chuck received several offers to appear at big time clinics to put on his sensational show.

Cardington's Kelley Shines In OSU Win Over Panthers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's sophomore brigade is turning into a first-rate basketball team.

Coach Floyd Stahl, a bit miffed at Monday night's loss to Big Ten rival Michigan, started three sophomores against Pittsburgh last night along with senior Paul Ebert and junior Dean Cook.

The result: A sound 74-55 victory.

Robin Freeman, the sophomore guard from Cincinnati, had earned a starting berth in the first game and proved he was capable of handling it.

Stahl took a chance on a couple of other youngsters—Don Kelley and George Wigton.

Freeman picked up the ground he'd lost in Monday's Michigan defeat with an under-par 13 point performance and got back into the thick of the Western Conference scoring race with a game-high 22 points.

Kelley, a 6-foot, 3-inch 19-year-old forward from Cardington, scored 10 points in the first half when Ohio needed them most. A Pittsburgh two-three zone defense had bottled up Ebert, the Bucks' leading scorer.

Freeman scored 14 points in the first half but Ohio still needed some fire power to stay ahead. Kelley provided it. Ohio closed the half with a 38-27 lead.

Kelley finished the game with 13 points. Wigton, a 6-2 forward from Oberlin, only scored 4 all night but played a creditable floor game and showed promise.

Ebert, who could score only 1 basket and 4 fouls in the first half, broke loose and led Ohio to a 61-46 lead going into the final period. He ended the game with 21 points.

Bevo Nails 48 As Rio Grande Betters Butler

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Holy Cross, long a power in Eastern basketball, appears headed for one of its best seasons since the Crusaders won the NCAA title back in 1947.

Off to an all-winning start the Crusaders polished off their ninth victim last night—a 91-62 breeze over American International — in a triumphant return from the South where they won the Sugar Bowl tournament.

Their New Orleans' success shot the Massachusetts sharpshooters into seventh place in the Associated Press poll.

Togo Palazzi, a silky smooth operator from Union City, N.J., leads the Holy Cross attack and needs just over 100 more points to wind up his career as the second highest scorer in the school's history. He added 22 last night despite limited service.

The Crusaders still face a tough road. They meet Notre Dame in Boston next week and have future engagements with Niagara and unbeaten Connecticut, which won its 11th game last night, 104-48 over New Hampshire.

Among the other nationally ranking clubs, only Duke, No. 8, and Navy, No. 18, saw action last night and both won with ease. The Blue Devils from Durham, N. C., swamped Virginia Tech 82-45. Don Lange set a Naval Academy scoring record of 43 points as the Middies overpowered Johns Hopkins 94-50.

A couple of other individual scoring records also were shattered. All America Tom Gola established a La Salle mark of 41 points in a 97-62 romp over Loyola of Baltimore and Bevo Francis scored 48, a Butler Fieldhouse record, as little Rio Grande clipped Butler 81-68.

Marion Fisherman Hits Jackpot on Islands Trip

Jay Maish of Marion will have some fishing experiences to tell when he comes back home.

Maish boated 13 bonefish in less than four hours of fishing off Andros Island in the Bahamas Tuesday. Ten other bonefish were lost in the struggle to bring them in.

He was on a bonefishing excursion sponsored by the Bang Bang Club and Bahamas Airways. Maish was the first United States angler to try the recently inaugurated one-day round trip excursion.

The fisherman left Nassau, Bahamas, at 7:30 a.m. and was back at his Nassau hotel in time for dinner following the excursion. Maish is head of the Jay H. Maish advertising firm.

Wyandot County League Resumes Action Friday

UPPER SANDUSKY — Sycamore Wildcats are the only undefeated team in the Wyandot County Basketball League as play resumes this week, after the vacation.

Friday night Salem will play at Sycamore, Harpster at Marseilles and Scutch at Nevada. Scutch holds second place in the league, Salem, Harpster and Nevada are all tied for third with 3-3 records. Sycamore and Scutch play again Feb. 5.

Cleveland Browns Sign Star of Service Squad

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dale Atkeson, who played halfback for the San Diego Navy team, has signed with the Cleveland Browns.

The 23-year-old 205-pounder, who came out of the Navy last November, was on the Marbonne High school team in Lomito, Calif., but never played college football.

Contract terms also were reached with Don Steinbrunner, 22, offensive tackle and defensive middle man.

'Mature' Movies

By George Sokolsky

The Motion Picture Code was devised in 1929 by Martin Quigley, adopted by the industry in 1930, and has since then served a very difficult consumers goods industry under the management of Joseph I. Breen. The code is designed indecency from motion pictures. Its stamp of approval has usually been required for the exhibition of a picture in a regular theater.

SOKOLSKY

Howard Hughes, who manages RKO, has twice challenged the authority of the Breen office. In both instances, his actress was Jane Russell. In the instance of "The Outlaw," he was brought to boot.

In the matter of his current production, "French Line," he is fighting it out. "The Moon Is Blue" is another picture shown without the code's authority.

Sam Goldwyn, wise in the ways of his industry, has proposed that the code be "modernized."

-:-

THE ASSUMPTION is that the American people are more mature and therefore can accept more sophistication than was true 25 years ago. As the principal attendants at movies are children and teen - agers, it is doubtful whether maturity and sohistication are very different today from 25 years ago.

This matter becomes increasingly important as more television pictures are manufactured by motion picture studios. That means that the performance comes right into the homes.

It means a wrangle between parents and children over what the child may look at. Belly-dancers, who make sex ludicrous, are not particularly elevating to the young. This nation cannot afford the debasement of its children by any industry.

The big men in the motion picture industry realize what the problem is. They do not want the code to fail. It has been too valuable an asset to the motion picture industry.

The difficulty is that they are beset by a rapidly rising number of so-called independents who must earn money swiftly if they are to survive.

SOME OF THESE companies import pictures from France and Italy that are disgraceful. It is no secret in the industry that a large number of Americans, writers, directors, producers, actors, driven out of Hollywood by the anti-Communist movement, have settled in Italy and France, where they are producing pictures for the American market.

Some of these pictures ought not to be shown in this country for any reason whatsoever.

The Supreme Court decision separating the producing end of the industry from theater ownership was bad not only for the motion picture industry but for the United States.

Now theater-owners are bound by no code except common sense, threats of police intervention for indecency, and fear of boycott. Before the separation, theaters could not show pictures which lacked the approval of the Breen office. Today anything goes.

Decent companies face destructive competition by indecent companies. The danger is not only that immoral pictures will be shown but that Communists and fellow - travelers will return to Hollywood. This means real trouble.

Motion pictures and television are generally for children and teen - agers. Those who object to all forms of censorship are unrealistic.

They themselves would not subject their children to the moral risks of indecent exposure and conduct.

They themselves would not like to see their children teen-age delinquents, overwrought by stimuli which might result in permanent character damage.

The motion picture industry would prefer to police itself, but it is powerless under the new type of competition particularly from abroad. It is powerless without public support.

As long as indecent pictures can make plenty of money, the industry is going to be disturbed and just as bad money drives out good, so vile pictures can drive out good.

Driven by stockholders, by bankers who hold mortgages on pictures, by the danger of going under, even the established companies will go in for so - called "mature" pictures.

THEN WILL come protests from parents, teachers, clergymen, public associations and the policing of this industry will come from outside.

Were only the principal companies involved, this problem could easily be solved. They would stand by the code. Nobody has yet improved on the Ten Commandments, even though that code is some 4,000 years old.

The age of the code does not make it inadequate for today. What places the code in danger is that new, young, energetic companies want to make a fast dollar and pictures from Italy and France can flood this market with the moral equivalent of marijuana.

Dewey Strategy

By Victor Riesel

The forces around Thomas E. Dewey, who are believed by many in informed GOP circles to be organizing to win another Republican presidential nomination for the still - young New York governor in 1956, have proved to be the most powerful bloc in the White House today.

RIESEL

They proved it by convincing President Eisenhower to woo the nation's labor leaders — thus defeating the more conservative business men who wanted the party to stay completely neutral.

Evidence of the Dewey victory has been obscured by the bustle of a returning Congress and the preparations for the President's major speeches. However, the sign of Dewey-Sherman Adams power is there in Mr. Eisenhower's decision to issue a special message on labor to Congress on Jan. 28 or 29, giving some union chiefs much of what they've wanted since the Taft-Harley law was first passed in 1947.

AS IT NOW stands inside the White House, a message will be prepared for Ike, in which he will ask Congress virtually to repeal the toughest sections of the controversial labor law.

Thus the President will tell labor he is taking no punitive action against the AFL and CIO for bucking him in the '52 campaign or for pulling Martin Durkin out of the Labor Department last summer.

The details of this significant document are not yet definite because the "neutralist" bloc in the Republican party has not given up fighting the Dewey bloc. It will battle for a very general statement — and a delay in its delivery.

So if you see the message on labor being pushed back into February, closer to the campaign and to the moment when most congressmen will say "We've got to get home and electioneer," you'll know that the Dewey-Adams forces were finally set back.

But the odds are that President Eisenhower will urge Congress to pass anywhere from 6 to 10 amendments to the law, the most significant of which will be one giving great power to the AFL's 3,000,000 - member construction trades unions.

THIS PROPOSAL of Ike's will say, in effect, that a construction union can go to a contractor or builder just after he has won his bid for a job and sign him up with the union long before he has even hired a working force. In other words, the men about to be hired will be in these unions before even the first power-shovel digs into the first bit of earth.

Behind these proposals is a power fight for control of Republican policies which is of intense interest to the nation. It is believed that barring any unforeseen development on New York's explosive political front, Gov. Dewey will change his mind about retiring — and will run for re-election against Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jr., or Averell Harriman, the leading contenders for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

TO MEET this "progressive" or left-of-center challenge, Dewey has been preparing to clean up the state.

He has two special investigations going now on the race track and political fronts and is himself directing the fight on the waterfront.

So interested is he in pushing this new surge of racket-busting (the sort of drive which gave him his early reputation as a crusading district attorney) that he has actually gone into the field himself, including trips to Washington, in the hope that he can clean up the waterfront despite the mobs' 50-year strangle-hold on eastern shipping.

Not too long ago, for example, after a Washington banquet he slipped quietly over to see Guy Farmer, the new chairman of the National Labor Relations Board. For two hours he argued for a delay in the calling of an election on the New York-New Jersey piers. For Dewey was sufficiently wise in these matters to know that the old longshoremen's union still had enough organization left to defeat the AFL.

HE WAS RIGHT. The old waterfront crowd outvoted the new one, making it very difficult to drive the 77 top mobsters out of their dock domain. And difficult, too, to show a clean-cut racket-busting victory. Having failed to budge Guy Farmer, Dewey personally tackled the old victorious longshoremen's association.

Thus the picture emerges of Dewey running three anti-crime campaigns on the New York scene —and at the same time being the power behind the pro-labor GOP bloc on the national scene.

If this helps him win re-election in New York this fall, his people expect him to be the only one to whom the Republican party can turn if Ike makes good his threat to quit the White House at the end of the first term.

So keep your eye on that Jan. 28-29 labor message. There'll be a lot more between the lines than in them!

This Is It

By Laura Hobson

WASHINGTON

This city seems nervous. Something highstrung and expectant is in people's faces today, in voices over the telephone, in the lobby sounds of my hotel.

HOBSON

I don't think I'm imagining this. Even on the train going down to Washington, the fragments of talk in the diner and club car kept switching from stocks and business to what "Ike" said on TV and what Congress would do or not do in the 83rd session.

"This rush," my taxi driver grumbled as he fought the traffic, "is like for the inauguration." That thought had struck me too, but it didn't stand up far beyond the thinking of it.

For Washington right now is nothing like the Washington of a year ago. The jubilation is missing, the triumph and back-slapping, and now-you'll see. They're as absent as the homburgs and silk hats, as the bands and the floats and the lumbering GOP mascot, Miss Burma, the baby elephant.

WHAT'S HERE now, instead, is a feeling of "this is it." A feeling of the chips going down and the clock ticking faster and nerves tightening up.

I talked to some Republicans—not official interviews, just chewing the rag — and I got the mood of determination, as if to say, "Let's get at it." I heard confidence too: "The spade work's done — you're going to see plenty of action this time around.

"Occasionally I struck a grim note: "It's high time we got moving — November's closer than you think."

AND I TALKED to some Democrats — again just hashing things over. I heard that same tone of "this is it," but with different undertones. I sensed a "show me" attitude, an impatience to see the "help" the President promised — and who would get it. I got an unspoken message: "Don't expect Democrats to go on proving forever what good sports we can be in defeat."

And from Republicans and Democrats alike, I heard that new guessing game that's being played by experts and plain joes all over the nation. Is a depression under way, or isn't it? Is it maybe just an "orthodox recession" or a "rolling readjustment" or the normal flattening out of inflation?

OR IS IT KICKING up for a bad blow? Everybody down here has an opinion on this—everybody I could talk to in my first evening and morning, at any rate.

I heard optimism and I heard gloom-and-doom. And wisecracks too, especially about Sen. Holland's (D-Fla.,) comment on the President's speech, "it sounds like Ike is committing himself to the welfare state."

But the speech doesn't get much discussion any more; that was Monday night, and what counts is today, and tomorrow, and the "State of the Union" address, and everything that lies ahead of Congress after the address is given.

$104,000 Estate Left By Columbus Resident

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 93-year-old Columbus man who was so suspicious of electricity he used gas to light his small frame house has left an estate of $104,233.10.

Joseph Buff, a strong-willed man who condemned automobiles as "new fangled contraptions," was killed by one last Nov. 27. A bicycle rider until he was 90, Buff had refused an offer of an automobile ride home from a visit the night he was killed.

Buff, whose will was probated yesterday, left some of the money to a church and an orphanage, the rest to his nieces.

When the Sudan held an election recently it required five weeks.

A GRAVE SITUATION. Dig this grave digger, a guy who likes his work so much that he even sleeps in a coffin. Agostino Biggi, 56-year-old employe of a cemetery near Genoa, Italy, has snoozed in his home-made coffin for 25 years and says "it's warmer, it's comfortable, it's peaceful." Biggi uses an empty tomb for his bedroom and has rigged up a system of ropes and pulleys to raise and lower the coffin lid like a blanket. No disturbances either—nothing stirring in the vicinity.

Ex-Train, Bank Robber, Wife Mark 50th Anniversary

TARZANA, Calif. (AP)—Reformed bank and train robber Al Jennings and his wife have just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Al is 90, his wife Maude, 73.

Jennings was leader of a gang that looted trains and banks in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas and Kansas in the '90s but one of his robberies failed and he and his gang were arrested. President McKinley reduced Jennings' life sentence and President Theodore Roosevelt later pardoned him and restored his civil rights.

Jennings often has said that he has been at odds with the law, but never with his wife, whom he met after his release from prison.

"I never was afraid of Al," she told newsmen. "He was the cutest thing, when I married him, and he still is."

Young Demolition Team Slowed Down by Police

DOLGEVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Police of this Herkimer County village have tossed a wet blanket over a youthful demolition team's plans for a bang-up experiment.

Officers said they recovered most of a batch of stolen dynamite sticks and blasting caps from a group of five boys, aged 12 to 14.

The lads said they were planning to mix various chemicals with the dynamite chunks in an "underwater demolition team" experiment.

POW's Mother Has First Word of Son

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. O. L. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., visiting in Chicago yesterday received the first word from her son, Cpl. Claude J., who on Jan. 1 left a group of Communist sympathizers in a Korean prisoner of war camp.

Mrs. Batchelor said her husband had telephoned that her son had sent a cablegram. "He told us he had returned at last from behind the Bamboo Curtain and was happy and feeling much better," Mrs. Batchelor said. "He said he was looking forward to seeing us real soon."

Cpl. Batchelor, is in Tokyo with his Japanese wife, Kyoko.

BERLIN (AP)—Huge, 20,000-year-old skulls of wild cattle have been unearthed in a gravel pit 80 miles west of Berlin, the official Soviet Zone news agency, ADN, reported last night.

ADN said bones of a giant prehistoric deer and a horse also were found in the pit, near Magdeburg in the Soviet Zone.

Largest Brown Trout Ever Caught Weighed 39½ Pounds
Way back, in 1866, Mr. W. Muir, fishing in Lock Awe, Scotland, tossed out his home-made fly and about an hour later netted the largest brown trout ever caught. This record still stands. What a wise old fish. He must have been of voting age. How did he fall for his last fly? Some day some lucky fisherman will beat the old record that has stood for 87 years. When it happens we will report the event. In the meantime if you enjoy the finest fresh and salt water fish, make a beeline for the Ritz.

Fatal Traffic Case To Be Investigated By Delaware Jury

Special to The Star

DELAWARE—A traffic accident in which five persons, including a Marion boy, were killed, will be investigated tomorrow when the January term grand jury convenes at the courthouse here.

Prosecutor Clyde E. Lewis said that the jury will be asked to determine whether circumstances surrounding the case justify the indictment of Miss Vesta Nasoff, 21, of Mansfield, for involuntary manslaughter.

Killed in the two-car collision on Route 23, between Delaware and Stratford, were Wray Glenn, 15, of Marion; Miss Betty Burns of Delaware; Lowell Beddow, 24, and Miss Victoria Borror, 13, of Berkshire Township; and Miss Naomi Lee Sampson, 21, of Mansfield, who was riding with Miss Nasoff. Miss Nasoff, who was hospitalized for two weeks, was the sole survivor of the crash which occurred when the Nasoff car drove across the path of the other oncoming car after passing a truck.

Other cases to be considered by the jury are: C. W. Jordan, 18, of Delaware, grand larceny; George Mayo, 39, of Delaware, shooting with intent to kill; Witten Howard, of near Galena, removing mortgaged property from the county; and William Burt of Delaware, charged with issuing a fraudulent check.

Ditch Hearing Set

County commissioners this morning set Jan. 28 as the date for a hearing on assessments for the Lee and Thompson Ditch which was petitioned for by A. J. Loudenslager and others.

The petition, filed in April of 1952, requests the construction, reconstruction, straightening, deepening, widening and tiling of the ditch which is located in Salt Rock Township.

Burton Is Elected Marion Township Trustees Chairman

Robert G. Burton was elected chairman of the Marion Township Trustees at an organizational meeting Monday in the township offices at 115½ S. Main St.

Burton is serving the first year of his second term as township trustee, having been re-elected in November. Paul W. Augenstein, elected for his first term at the November election, and Holley F. Baker, who was appointed in December of 1952, are the other two trustees.

Road improvements for the coming year were discussed.

For purposes of simplifying road improvements, the township was divided into three districts. In the first district are all roads east of U. S. Route 23; second, roads west of Route 23 and north of Route 30; and third, roads west of Route 23 and south of Route 30. Burton will be working on plans for the first district, Augenstein for the second, and Baker for the third.

Residents of the township are to call the Marion Fire Department for all fires in the township, the trustees reported. This is in accordance with the three-year contract in force between the City of Marion and Marion Township calling for the city fire department to fight fires in rural Marion Township.

W. K. Tobin, clerk of the trustees, presented the financial report for 1953.

ONE DRIVER ARRESTED

Only one motorist was arrested in the past 24 hours by Marion police. Ernest LeRoy Ford, 42, of near Marion was stopped at 1:06 this morning on Bellefontaine Ave. He was charged with speeding and cited to appear in Municipal Court today.

Patrolmen Arrest Two

Two arrests for traffic violations were reported this morning by the Marion post of the state highway patrol.

Parker C. Ice, 49, of Glenford, O., was fined $15 and costs in Municipal Court for having no mud flaps on a commercial vehicle.

A serviceman, Josepa Patrick VanOss, 21, of Cuyahoga Falls, was arrested for failure to yield the right of way. Fine and costs were suspended in Municipal Court.

BOY ADMITS BREAK-IN

Police today reported the solving of the break-in of the city dog pound on Dec. 30. They announced a ten-year-old Marion boy had been picked up and had admitted taking locks and records from the office of the pound. The stolen goods were recovered at the boy's home.

Some Snobs Discovered

Animal Kingdom Observes Strict 'Social Standing'

By JERRY KLEIN

BATON ROUGE, La. — The Louisiana Agriculture Experiment Station has found that dairy cows can be perfect snobs. After careful study, the station discovered that the cow which has been in a herd the longest becomes the most feared and respected.

Even when older and heavier animals were added to the herd, the top-rated cow was still the one which had been in the herd the longest.

YOU MIGHT never suspect that behind the expressionless eyes of a cow there lurks a brain fully aware of "social standing." But the news shouldn't come as too great a shock, for snobbery is rife throughout the animal kingdom.

Dr. Arthur A. Allen of Cornell University recently reported that cardinals, redpolls, waterfowl and other birds also follow definite "pecking orders." These determine which birds have the privilege of pecking with other birds in the flock.

Cardinals have been known to fight their own window reflections in needless defense of some prerogative or other. And to establish their superiority to their brothers, ruffed grouse rumble like little freight trains, prairie chickens make a booming noise and mallard ducks "dogfight" in mid-air.

NOT LONG ago, the experimental station at Kansas State College discovered that even chickens are jealous of their "social standing." Within a few weeks after they are hatched, it was found, every flock acquires both domineering bosses and meek underlings.

The investigators discovered that at the age of nine weeks, chickens develop strict "pecking orders," which regulate who pecks and who gets pecked. Roosters peck each other, but seldom bother pecking hens.

Social discipline even keeps fish in their appointed places within the school. A school of soldier fish, for example, is as exact as a military formation. Hundreds of "soldiers" obey their commander as they swim in the same direction at the same speed, each keeping its proper distance from the next in rank.

Incidentally, the social inclination of a goldfish is so strong that, if kept alone, it may become mentally upset. On the other hand, the vicious and antisocial piranha fish may try to break through the wall of a tank if put with a fellow piranha.

SOME MYSTERIOUS social division regulates the way galapagos turtles eat, sleep and travel. Scientists believe this may stem from the fact that for centuries the galapagos turtle has observed one-way traffic on his island home 600 miles west of Ecuador.

Migrating with the seasons, in strict order of precedence, the huge tortoises wore ruts into the lowland trails. These trails, being only wide enough for one at a time, forced the turtles to follow the leader in single file.

This traffic control apparently imposed a whole social pattern on the turtles. The result of this discipline may still be observed today—at the Bronx Zoo in New York, for instance, where a group of galapagos turtles live their lives strictly "by the numbers."

However, turtles sometimes rebel and try to climb higher on the social ladder. they have a dozen or so ways of reaching a recognized position higher in the turtle hierarchy—all of them forceful and to the point. Included are snapping at a neighbor and pushing him out of the way.

Trucker Saves 11, Including Ohioan, From Fatal Fumes

TOMBSTONE, Ariz. (AP)—A truck driver was credited with saving 11 persons from death by carbon monoxide poisoning yesterday.

Fletcher W. Sullins found the 11 unconscious in a panel truck, tried unsuccesfully to revive them by artificial respiration and rushed them to a hospital.

They were given emergency oxygen treatment and revived.

"I'm thankful to God that someone pulled us out," murmured Bernard Berman of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the 11.

Police said the near tragedy was caused by fumes from a defective muffler entering Berman's panel truck

RECOVERS STAMPS

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton police have fished from a river $1,000 worth of stamps they say Postal Employe Lowell W. Ingersoll, 36, dropped as part of a fake burglary. Ingersoll was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Charles Ozias yesterday on a charge of embezzling more than $9,000 from the Dayton Postoffice over the past three years. Police say he dumped the stamps in the river and told officers his stamp cage was burglarized to cover up discrepancies in his accounts.

Two Kenton Men Listed by Army as Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army today released the names of men who have been missing in action for more than one year and who are presumed to be dead.

The Army said the presumption of death in these cases "does not establish an actual or probable date of death." It said the law requires the establishment of a presumptive date of death for the termination of pay and allowances, settlement of accounts and payment of death gratuities.

"In view of the lapse of time without information to support a continued presumption of survival, the Department of the Army must terminate such absence by a presumptive finding of death," the Army said.

The following men from Ohio were included in the list of those presumed dead.

Pfc. Robert L. Briggs, brother-in-law of Robert F. Johnson, Ken-St., Columbus.

Pfc. Franklin L. Jones, son of Ben Jones, Kenton.

Free Pass Lands Boston Man in Municipal Court

BOSTON (AP)—John D. Kirnon, 17, got into Municipal Court today on a free pass—charged with larceny.

Miss Marion Grace, the cashier, had him arrested. She told police the pass was among the items in her handbag which was stolen the previous day.

SEEKS COURT BENCH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Common Pleas Judge James F. Bell, Madison County Democrat, has taken out declaration of candidacy petitions for judge of the Ohio Supreme Court. He did not indicate which judgeship he will seek. His Common Pleas judgeship expires in 1956. Also taking out petitions for Supreme Court judge yesterday was Charles H. Hubbell of Cleveland. A Democrat, Hubbell has run unsuccessfully for state offices in the past.

Tasty Tidbits for Munching at Parties

Trays of Spiced Pecans, Cheese Wafers Will Delight Callers

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Strictly for munchers and nibblers—and who isn't one?—are these three tidbit masterpieces. Perfect to serve when friends come calling. Bring a trayful of them on with your favorite beverage and your winter party will be off to a good start.

Pecans figure in one of our three tidbit foods — all sweet and spiced. This year we have the largest pecan crop on record, ready to be used in wonderful things to eat. Nearly all the pecans sold in the shell are of the improved or cultivated varieties — this means that their shells are thin and easy to crack, the meats are large and they're not hard to take out of the shell. If you don't feel like cracking pecans you can, of course, buy the nuts already shelled.

Another of these tidbits is shredded bite-size cereal squares. Have you noticed how these cereals are getting all tucked out with seasonings these days, and have come into great favor as party fare? Try our recipe — double or triple it, if you like. Just make plenty — people love these.

The third choice morsel is a cheese wafer — a combination of sharp cheddar, butter or margarine, flour and a dash of paprika. All the good oldfashioned cookbooks had a version of these wafers; they're so delicious they should be perpetuated. These wafers have a great advantage: you can keep a roll of them in the refrigerator and bake as you like.

We're all for giving each guest a plate of his own on which to stack his snacks. Save yourself work and use paper plates — the kind that are lunch-size, firm and nonabsorbent. Then with paper napkins on hand, you'll be all set — and so will your guests.

WONDERFUL FOR NIBBLERS. Spiced pecans, cereal crunchies and cheese wafers make good munching.

SPICED PECANS

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, dash of cloves, dash of nutmeg, 1 cup pecan halves.

Method: In heavy skillet, melt butter. Add sugar, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg; stir well. Add pecans and cook over low heat, stirring constantly until sugar is melted — about 8 minutes. Turn out on buttered flat pan to cool, separating pecans.

CEREAL CRUNCHIES

Ingredients: ¼ cup butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 cups bite-size shredded wheat squares.

Method: In 10-inch skillet, melt butter; stir in poultry seasoning. Add shredded wheat squares; mix well over low heat about 3 minutes. Serve warm or cold.

CHEESE WAFERS

Ingredients: 1¼ cups sifted flour, ½ cup butter or margarine, 1 cup firmly-packed grated sharp cheddar cheese, paprika.

Method: Put flour, butter and cheese into mixing bowl. Blend with pastry blender, fingers or two knives. Form into two rolls about 1 inch in diameter. Chill several hours. Slice ¼- to ½-inch thick. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in hot (400F) oven 5 minutes. Makes 60 to 75.

Hamilton Solves Mayor Deadlock By Electing Two

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The Hamilton City Council, deadlocked over the election of a mayor, worked its way out of the dilemma yesterday by electing two mayors. Arthur Wilson of the People's party will serve during 1954 and Arthur Fiehrer of the Forward Hamilton will serve during 1955.

The deadlock arose as a result of a situation in which the People's party had three council members, the Forward Hamilton party three members and then there was Herbert Mich, elected as an Independent.

Votes taken Monday were 3-3-1 with Mich voting for himself. Yesterday, however, the Forward Hamilton members broke party lines and voted for Fiehrer to serve during 1955.

Mich refused to vote, declared he was a candidate himself.

E. H. Perrson, director of law expressed belief the dual election was legal even though unusual.

College Group Picks Up Tips From Circus Folks

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP) — A group of 60 Florida State University students went to the circus recently but not for pleasure.

The students were members of the university's unique "Flying High" circus, an amateur production sponsored by the athletic department to teach coordination and group cooperation.

When the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus played here, the student performers turned out en masse to inspect the rigging, chat with the professional circus stars, and write down ideas for their own show next year.

The student show is strictly amateur, but standards of performance are high. Last spring the college circus drew crowds totalling 100,000 in a tour of 25 Florida and Georgia cities.

In ancient times the infantry soldier, best represented by the Roman legion, was more important in Europe and cavalry was more important in the warfare of Asia.

Farmer Moves, Takes 3 Of His Trees With Him

NEWHALL, Iowa (AP)—To many persons a tree is just a tree.

But to Harvey Hartz, the three maples he planted 38 years ago on his farm near here are more like old friends.

Hartz is moving to town and the three trees are going with him. He has hired specialists to move them today to his new home.

More Flurries Follow Heavy Snow in East

By The Associated Press

More snow fell today in the northeastern section of the country and rain continued along the Pacific Coast.

But dry and comparatively mild winter weather prevailed in most other sections of the country.

The snow belt extended from the Upper Great Lakes southeastward into West Virginia, northeastward through the Alleghenies into New York and New England. Falls measured 2 inches or more over most of the area. The snow and a two-day cold wave resulted in at least five deaths in Pennsylvania. Three persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow while two others were killed when autos skidded on slippery highways.

The rain in the Far West extended from Northern California into Canada. Fair to partly cloudy skies were reported in other sections of the nation.

Temperatures were below freezing from New England southwestward into the Middle Mississippi Valley and northwestward over the Central and Northern Plains and the Northern Rockies. Readings were zero and below in sections of North Dakota and in the 40s and 50s in other areas.

Candle Drippings Trip Two Teen-Age Burglars

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Two teenage burglars who pulled three jobs by candlelight were in jail today, crossed up by tell-tale candle drippings.

Officers said red candle drippings were found at the scene of each theft. One burglary was solved. The youths were arrested and confessed to all three.

Crawford Coroner Tells Brotherhood Of European Trip

Special to The Star

GALION—Part of the cord that was worn by Jesus around His robe and a part of the robe worn by the Virgin Mary were among the relics seen by Dr. B. P. Mansfield of Galion, Crawford County coroner, in the cathedral at Aachen, Germany, on his visit to that country last fall.

The doctor told about churches he visited in Europe when he was speaker, Monday night, at the meeting of the Men's Brotherhood at First Methodist Church here. Also on display were solid gold crosses and statuettes that were made between 800 and 900 A.D. He also told of seeing religious paintings in the cathedral that were well preserved since they had been painted in 1400.

Digressing from his subject of churches and cathedrals, the doctor spoke briefly about the shortage of water in Holland and Germany, to the extent that it was not served with meals in restaurants of these countries.

The meeting of the Brotherhood was preceded by a dinner. Ralph Workman, program chairman, presented the speaker; land business was conducted by Robert Walker.

Log cabins were introduced into the United States by Scandinavian settlers.

Area Youth for Christ Service Opens Saturday

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus Youth for Christ movement will observe its fifth anniversary here Saturday night at the YMCA with a special service featuring Colin Clark of London as guest speaker. A student at Cedarville Baptist College, Clark was active in the movement in Britain before coming to the United States last August. His visit to the U. S. is sponsored by a Baptist minister, Rev. J. Jason of Savannah, O., who will accompany him here.

Among the young people participating in the program will be Howard Shumate of Marion, accordionist and guitarist and a student at the Cedarville College.

Squirrel With Gun Can Be a Dangerous Enemy

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (UP)—Eugene Ridolfi, 17, went hunting and was "bagged" by his victim.

Ridolfi fired his .22-calibre rifle and wounded a squirrel in a tree. It fell to the ground and ran. Ridolfi placed the gun against the tree and gave chase.

The squirrel ran back up the tree and hid there until Ridolfi returned to retrieve the rifle.

Just then the animal dropped from a branch and fell on the rifle, which discharged a bullet into the youth's collarbone. The wound was not serious.

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR HUSBAND By Webster-Roth

Menu Poor Guide At Texas Barbecue

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — A "house specialty" at Johnnie Monaghan's is "tripe" at $1.98.

That's for special customers only —and then they can't have it.

Also on the special menu is "broiled African leopard steak," which carries no price and must be "ordered two years in advance.

Monaghan is a tall, lean Irishman who operates a barbecue business known throughout the Southwest — and by many movie stars, as well—for the flavor of his food.

When he isn't supervising the cooking of barbecue at his place, he's cooking up an unique menu for special customers. Then, when he isn't worrying about his health —which appears to be fairly sturdy —he proceeds to worry his regular customers with insults.

The special customers are evidenced by autographed pictures hanging around the walls of his place. They include such personages as Dorothy Lamour, Ann Blyth, Scott Brady and Audie Murphy. The autographs all testify to the succulence of Monaghan's barbecue—from beef, ribs, ham or chicken to his barbecued pecan pies.

As for the special menu, it includes, besides "tripe," such things as "fresh cliches, dangling participles, mixed metaphors, split and stuffed infinitives (French-fried colons, for one dollar each."

Semicolons, French-fried, are cheaper—only 50 cents.

On the other hand, a "young whale stuffed with new Buick" costs $3,500.

Regular customers — and others forewarned — laugh at his menu and swear by his barbecue. Monaghan himself will discuss anything except the ingredients of his specially prepared barbecue sauce.

That, he says is the secret of half of the success of a person in the barbecue trade.
